

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Stride—Form—Cadence—Pace	14
On the Subversive Nature of This Handbook	17
A Note on “Just Do It”	30
Leaving It All on the Track	33
Running Is a Contact Sport	37
Running after Olympians	42
Running Is Your Life	56
Speed Play	58
Personal Best	61
In Training for the Boston Marathon	70
Running the Risk Of	84

Courage, or The Paris Marathon	87
Runner's High	91
Let's Let Our Running Be Real	97
On Hitting the Wall and Writer's Block	101
Repetitive Stress	105
A Note on Cross-Training	112
A Note on Running to Music	114
Big Gay 10K	117
This One's for the Rabbits, the Also-Rans, and the Dreamers	120
Loops—Practice—Repetition—Ritual	126
Cooldown and Stretching	131
Notes	135
Bibliography	145
Things I Thought With, Things I Ran With	