

Contents

Leonardo M. Savoia

Introduction — 1

David Adger

A labelling solution to a curious EPP effect — 7

Laura Bafile

The question of overgeneration in Element Theory — 19

Benedetta Baldi

Linguistic and pragmatic procedures in the political discourse — 29

Josef Bayer

Why doubling discourse particles? — 47

Adriana Belletti

(Reflexive) Si as a route to passive in Italian — 73

Andrea Calabrese

Irregular verbal morphology and locality: The irregular Latin perfect forms, their Proto-Indo-European ancestors and their Romance outcomes — 87

Anna Cardinaletti and Giuliana Giusti

Multiple agreement in Southern Italian dialects — 125

Carlo Cecchetto and Caterina Donati

Relabeling participial constructions — 149

Noam Chomsky

Puzzles about phases — 163

Guglielmo Cinque

On the double-headed analysis of “Headless” relative clauses — 169

Gloria Cocchi

Bantu class prefixes: Towards a cross-categorical account — 197

Marcel den Dikken

Differential object marking and the structure of transitive clauses — 217

Elisa Di Domenico

Countability and the /s/ morpheme in English — 231

Ludovico Franco

(Im)proper prepositions in (Old and Modern) Italian — 249

Jacopo Garzonio

Not even a crumb of negation: on mica in Old Italian — 273

Mirko Grimaldi

From brain noise to syntactic structures: A formal proposal within the oscillatory rhythms perspective — 293

Kleanthes K. Grohmann

When seem wants to control — 317

Richard S. Kayne

Some thoughts on one and two and other numerals — 335

Rosangela Lai

Stress shift under cliticization in the Sardinian transitional area — 357

Adam Ledgeway

The causative construction in the dialects of southern Italy and the phonology-syntax interface — 371

Paolo Lorusso

Lexical parametrization and early subjects in L1 Italian — 401

Ana Madeira and Alexandra Fiéis

Inflected infinitives in Portuguese — 423

Guido Mensching

Some notes on the Sardinian complementizer systems — 439

Léa Nash

Structural source of person split — 453

Ad Neeleman and Hans van de Koot

The non-existence of sub-lexical scope — 501

Diego Pescarini

An emergentist view on functional classes — 531

Francesca Ramaglia and Mara Frascarelli

The (information) structure of existentials — 561

Luigi Rizzi

Che* and weak islands — 599

Anna Roussou

Complement clauses: Case and argumenthood — 609

Tarald Taraldsen

The internal structure of Nguni nominal class prefixes — 633

Jeroen van Craenenbroeck

Expletives, locatives, and subject doubling — 661

Kenneth Wexler

Arbitrary control instead of obligatory control in temporal adjuncts
in Child Grammar: An ATTRACT analysis — 691

Language Index — 717

Subject Index — 719

