

INDEX

- ableism. See racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
The Abolitionist, 73 abortion, 200, 216, 230–31, 257–58, 270, 284
Abrams, Lynn, 70
abstinence. See celibacy/abstinence
Adler, Alfred, and Adlerian or individual psychology, 273, 274n24, 278, 291, 293–94, 296, 297, 299–300, 303
Adler, Otto, The Inadequate Sexual Feeling of Woman (1911), 93
Ahmed, Sara, 320
Alafberg, Friedrich, 203–4
Alaimo, Stacy, 314, 315
Allen, Ann Taylor, 130, 131, 196, 197
alternative female subjectivities. See homosexuality
Archive for Gynaecology and Constitutional Research, 279
Archive for Racial and Sexual Biology, 277
Archive for Women's Studies (Frauenkunde) and Eugenics, 3, 152–53
Archive of Comprehensive Psychology, 278
Archive of Men's Studies (Archiv der Männerkunde), proposed, 153
Arduin, Dr., “The Woman Question and Sexual Intermediaries” (1900), 129, 137
Association for Birth Control, 272
Association for the Protection of Youth (Verein Jugendschutz), 72
Association of Prussian Schoolteachers, 101
Augspurg, Anita, 161

- Austria and Germany, cultural and intellectual interconnectedness of, 4–6. See also women sexologists in Germany and Austria
- Austro-Prussian War (1866), 5n5
- Bashford, Alison, 191
- Bauer, Heike, 117, 124
- BDF (League of German Women's Associations or Bund Deutscher Frauenvereine), 26, 103, 152, 198, 227, 310
- Beauvoir, Simone de, The Second Sex (1949), 151, 304
- Bebel, August, 198; Woman and Socialism (1910), 158
- Becker, Werner, 292–93
- Berlin, as center of sexological studies, 47, 48n274
- Berlin, Isaiah, 6
- Bieber-Böhm, Hannah, 72
- Biological Healing Arts*, 291, 292
- biopolitics, concept of, 21–25, 34–38
- birth control, 100, 200, 216, 230–31, 256–59, 260, 268, 272
- Birth Control Review*, 278
- bisexuality, 80–81n51, 126n26, 140–41, 149, 301
- Bismarck, Otto von, 46
- Blackbourn, David, 5n5, 49
- Bland, Lucy, 185, 186n4
- Blaschko, Alfred, 52, 157, 158, 161
- Bloch, Iwan: dermatological background, 32; on female sexual drive, 80, 82–83, 84; holistic category, sex/gender viewed as, 120–21; on homosexuality, 116, 128, 138, 150; League for Protection of Mothers and, 198; on racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 193; sexology in twentieth-century Germany and, 18–19, 47, 53, 58; The Sexual Life of Our Time (1907), 12, 18, 57, 80, 279n46; “Tasks and Goals of Sexology” (1914), 18
- Bluhm, Agnes, 61, 86n69, 95n101, 105–7, 196
- body politic, hygiene of. See racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
- Bouness, Elisabeth. See Bré, Ruth
- Bourdieu, Pierre, 33
- Bré, Ruth: biographical information, 4, 86, 321–22; Bluhm and, 86n69, 95n101, 105–7; death of, 310–11; on female sex drive, 39, 66, 68, 85, 87–91, 94, 95, 98–99, 103, 110; on free unions, 98–99; on homosexuality, 133; “Is Forced, Unwilled Sexual Abstinence and Childlessness Damaging for the Healthy, Normal Woman?” (1904), 90–91n81; League for Protection of Mothers, founding of, 197; male sexologists’ engagement with work of, 12; The Right to Motherhood (1903), 86, 88, 90, 95, 106, 110; sex reform movements and proposals, 53, 98–99, 103
- Breuer, Josef, 95
- Brewster, E. T., 67n6
- British Malthusian League, 200
- Bülow, Franz Josef von, 52
- Bumm, Ernst, 157
- Butler, Josephine, 72
- Canning, Kathleen, 25, 267
- Carpenter, Edward, 32, 43, 62, 124, 125, 127–28, 142, 147
- Cauer, Minna, 72, 134
- celibacy/abstinence: Catholic priests and, 241, 249; early marriage, women sexologists’ support for, 98, 213; of female Prussian civil servants, 101–2; female sex drive, beliefs about, 63, 70, 81–82, 95–97, 105–7; feminist debates over, 105–7; hysteria and, 95–96
- Central Paper of the Federation of German Women's Associations*, 133
- Chamberlain, Houston Stewart, 189n8
- Christian Social Party, 270–71
- Congress of Vienna (1815), 5n5
- contraception, 100, 200, 216, 230–31, 256–59, 260, 268, 272

- Darwin, Charles, and evolutionary theory, 15, 64, 66n6, 83–84, 170, 173–74, 191, 192, 236, 316, 319–20; The Descent of Man (1871), 170; On the Origin of Species (1859), 192. See also natural selection; sexual selection
- Daston, Lorraine, 10
- David, Eduard, 240–41, 255
- Davidson, Roger, 159
- Davies, Peter, 19
- degeneration theory: First World War, sexual-ethical consequences of, 241–45; heterosexuality viewed as degenerative, 142; homosexuality viewed as degenerative, 123–24, 150; male (hetero)sexuality, perceived threats to, 155–57; Meisel-Hess on capitalist patriarchy as cause of racial degeneration and sexual crisis, 204–7; racial hygiene and eugenics, relationship to, 192, 194; sexual inequality and, Vaerting on, 284
- Deutsche medizinische Presse*, 106n120
- Dickinson, Edward Ross, 70, 172–73, 197, 198, 200, 269
- divorce, 9, 149, 269
- Documents of Woman*, 144
- Dohm, Hedwig, “On Biological Love” (1909), 102n116
- Domansky, Elizabeth, 226, 227
- double standard: female sex drive and, 68–70, 82n59, 84, 90, 96–99; in First World War, 226, 234, 246–47; Freud on, 82n59; normalization of male heterosexuality and, 154; prostitution and, 72, 96, 226; women sexologists critiquing, 28, 41
- Dück, Johannes, 261–62
- Durkheim, Émile, 23n46
- education: Lazarsfeld on, 298; sex education, 101, 175, 270; Weininger on educating women, 136; of women in Germany (1900–1933), 7n8; of women sexologists in study, 7, 31–32
- Ehrenfehl, Christian von, 60
- Elberskirchen, Johanna: biographical information, 4, 6, 7, 86, 322–23; on female homosexuality, 39, 117–21, 126, 133, 139–44, 150–51; on female sex drive, 39, 66, 68, 85, 86, 88, 92–94, 96–97, 100, 103, 111–13; historiographical attention to women sexologists and, 32; on intellect and sexuality, 112–13, 126, 143; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued by, 40, 154, 167, 168–71, 172, 173, 179–81, 183; Mayreder compared, 179, 181–82; Meisel-Hess compared, 181–82; Mensch as opponent of, 133; Nazis and, 311; on racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 186, 187, 206; Rüling compared, 141, 142, 144; on scientific knowledge about sex, 10, 11; sex reform movements and proposals, 53, 97, 100, 103, 173, 179–81; on superiority of women, 179–81; on “Woman-Identified Woman,” 139–44; in women’s history, 6
- Elberskirchen, Johanna, works: Feminism and Science (1903), 11; The Love of the Third Sex (1904), 36, 117, 139, 140, 141, 142, 150–51; Revolution! (1904), 117, 139, 140; Sex Life and Sexual Abstinence of Woman (1905), 88, 112; “The Sex Life of the Female” (1908), 92–93; The Sexual Feeling of Woman and Man (1903), 92
- Ellis, Havelock: on female sexual drive, 43, 65, 67, 76–80, 84; First World War and, 238; on German sexology, 43; on homosexuality, 114, 122n14, 125, 128; on Meisel-Hess, 202–3; on racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 193, 194, 195; sexology in early twentieth century and, 32, 53; on Vaerting’s New Foundation, 279

- Ellis, Havelock, works: Analysis of the Sexual Impulse (1903), 76; Man and Woman (1894), 179–80, 279n46; The Problem of Race Regeneration (1911), 193; Sexual Inversion (with John Addington Symonds, 1897), 24, 43, 125; The Task of Social Hygiene (1912), 195, 202–3
- epistemic communities, concept of, 31n72
- Epstein, Steven, 33
- Erb, Wilhelm, 90n81
- erotic friendships, 99, 175, 212
- eugenics. See racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
- Eugenics Education Society, 196
- Eulenberg, Albert, 58, 81, 82, 84
- Eulenburg-Harden trials (1907–9), 118
- European interconnectedness, 5n5
- Evans, Richard, 27
- evolutionary theory, 15, 64, 66n6, 83–84, 170, 173–74, 191, 192, 236, 316, 317, 319–20. See also natural selection; sexual selection
- Fausto-Sterling, Ann, 319
- female homosexuality. See homosexuality
- female sex drive, 39, 63–114; bourgeois redefinition of, 68–70; Bré on, 39, 66, 68, 85, 87–91, 94, 95, 98–99, 103, 110; celibacy/abstinence and, 63, 70, 81–82, 95–97, 105–7; debates between women over nature of, 102n116, 103, 104–9; double standard and, 68–70, 82n59, 84, 90, 96–99; Elberskirchen on, 39, 66, 68, 85, 86, 88, 92–94, 96–97, 100, 103, 111–13; First World War, concerns over female sexual behavior during, 226–27, 241–42; frigidity, 84, 110–11; Fürth on, 39, 63–64, 66, 68, 85, 89, 92, 94, 101–2, 103; general concept of sex drive, 65–66; homosexuality and, 68, 109–10, 114; male dominance and sexual privilege, male sexologists' continued assertion of, 82–95; male views critiqued by women sexologists, 63–64, 92–93; Meisel-Hess on, 39, 66, 68, 85, 87, 90–100, 102n116, 103, 111–12, 209–10; as natural physiological necessity, 87–90, 93–95, 102–3, 107–8, 209–10; nymphomania, 110; prostitution and, 63, 64, 66, 70–74, 96, 97; psychological and physiological components, recognition of, 75–76, 92–93; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 68, 88, 90, 102–3, 109–13; reinterpreted by women sexologists, 66–68, 84–86; reproductive instinct distinguished, 66, 76–79, 90–92, 111, 300n64; sex reforms supported by women sexologists, 97–103; similarity in intensity to male sex drive, 79–81, 89–90, 91–92; undue emphasis on sex, feminist challenges to, 108–9; unwed mothers and, 66, 74–75
- feminism and women's movements, 25–29; Elberkirchen's "Woman-Identified Woman" and, 143–44; female homosexuality, association with, 115–17, 119, 120–21, 127–33, 137–38, 143–44; gender politics of sexology and, 45, 56–62; International Congress of Women (1904), 119, 128, 138; League for Protection of Mothers and, 198–99, 200; legal position of women in early twentieth-century Germany, 9–10, 27, 261, 268; male (hetero) sexuality and, 174; maternalists and maternalism, 130–32; Mayreder's synthetic human and, 148–49; new materialist feminism, 313–20; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 185–87, 195, 218; Rüling's Urinde and, 137–38; sex reform and moral purity movements, 45, 48–56; suffragist movement, 25–29; treatment of women in sexual research, critiques of, 2–4, 11, 104–5, 285–86; venereal diseases and, 160–62

- field, sexology treated as, 33–34, 307
- First International Congress for the Fight against Venereal Diseases, 160
- First World War, 40–41, 221–43; aftermath of, 260–63; changes induced by, 38; civilization, concerns about safeguarding, 236–38; female sexual behavior, concerns regarding, 226–27, 241–45, 260; fraternization in, 227, 246–47; Fürth and, 40, 223, 224, 228, 248–51, 254, 258–59; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued and, 224, 245–46, 260; Meisel-Hess and, 40, 223, 240, 244–45, 251, 253–59, 261; Nahrungsfrage, 255–56; nationalist sentiments in first years of, 232–33, 235–36; pacifist movement, 228, 233–36, 237–38; public life, increased female involvement in, 227–28; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 225, 236–37, 239–41, 243, 250, 254–60; sex ratio affected by, 250–52; sex reforms proposed during, 240–41, 247–50; sexology and, 231–42, 262–63; sexual-ethical consequences of, 241–45, 251–52, 260; state efforts to regulate sex lives in, 222, 225–31; Stöcker and, 40, 221–23, 233–36, 245–46, 253, 258, 261; Vaerting and, 40, 224–25, 243, 249–52, 257–58, 275; welfare state and, 229–30, 240–41; women sexologists and, 221–25, 242–63. See also “population question”
- Flesch, Max, 90n81, 92
- Forel, August, 114, 198; The Sexual Question (1905), 12, 70, 78–79, 83, 84; The United States of Earth (1914), 237–38
- Foucault, Michel, 14–15, 20–25, 30, 31, 34; History of Sexuality (1976), 20, 30
- Fout, John, 51
- fraternization in First World War, 227, 246–47
- Frauenbewegung*, 106n120
- Frauenwohl, 72
- The Free Words* (journal), 203
- free-love unions, 98–99, 175, 212–13
- Freud, Sigmund: on female sex drive, 77–78, 79, 80–81, 82, 83, 90, 95, 96; on homosexuality, 114; League for Protection of Mothers and, 198n30; male (hetero)sexuality and, 171–72; Meisel-Hess influenced by, 171–72, 203; sexology in twentieth century and, 53
- Freud, Sigmund, works: “Instincts and Their Vicissitudes” (1915), 77–78n39; “Modern Sexual Morality and Modern Nervousness” (1908), 15, 78, 82; Three Contributions to the Theory of Sexuality (1905), 77–78, 80–81, 83n63; Three Essays on the Theory of Sexuality (1905), 15, 24; Totem and Taboo (1913), 279n46
- Frevert, Ute, 5n5
- frigidity, 84, 110–11
- Frischauf, Marie, 272
- Fürth, Henriette: biographical information, 4, 6, 86–87, 323–24; on female sex drive, 39, 63–64, 66, 68, 85, 89, 92, 94, 101–2, 103; First World War and, 40, 223, 224, 228, 248–51, 254, 258–59; in German Society for the Fight against Venereal Diseases, 161; League for the Protection of Mothers and, 74, 198, 199; Nazis and, 311; sex reform movements and proposals, 53, 101–2, 103
- Fürth, Henriette, works: Prostitution: Its Origins and the Way to a Remedy, 98; The Sex Problem and Modern Morals (1908), 63, 89; State and Morality (1912), 102
- Galton, Francis, 185, 191
- General Austrian Women's Organization (Allgemeine Österreichischer Frauenverein), 144
- General Conference of German Morality Organizations, 50

- Gerhard, Adele, and Helene Simon, Motherhood and Intellectual Labor (1901), 131
- German Abolitionist Federation, 160
- German Confederation, 5n5
- German League for Culture (Deutscher Kulturbund), 72
- German Revolution (1918), 231, 251
- German Society for the Fight against Venereal Diseases (Deutsche Gesellschaft zur Bekämpfung der Geschlechtskrankheiten), 7, 52, 55–56, 63, 74, 87, 157, 160–61, 248
- Germany and Austria, sexology in. See sexology in early twentieth century; women sexologists in Germany and Austria
- Gerstel, Alice Rühle, 268
- The Girlfriend* (journal), 151
- Gleich, Dr., 107
- Gobineau, Arthur, 189n8
- Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 147
- Goldscheid, Rudolf, 22, 241, 272
- Göttert, Margit, 133
- Gotto, Sybil, 196
- Gowaty, Patricia, 316
- Grossmann, Atina, 310
- Grosz, Elizabeth, 174n44, 316–17
- Grotjahn, Alfred, 253
- Gruber, Helmut, 271n13
- Guillame-Schack, Gertrud, 72
- Haas, Peter, 31n72
- Hacker, Agnes, 134
- Haeckel, Ernst, 140
- Hall, Lesley A., 159
- Hall, Radclyffe, The Well of Loneliness (1928), 301
- Hammer, Wilhelm, 95, 116, 128, 150
- Haraway, Donna, 12, 13, 320
- health and naturalness, concern for. See racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
- Hegar, Alfred, 106; The Sex Drive (1894), 69
- Heinze murder trial (1891), 71–72
- Hekman, Susan, 314, 315
- Herbert, Ulrich, 35
- hermaphroditism, 125, 149
- Hertwig, Oscar, 92
- hetairas, 244
- heterosexuality: as degenerative, 142; as normative, 109–10, 121–24, 127. See also male (hetero)sexuality critiqued
- Heymann, Lida Gustava, 161
- Hilferding, Margarete, 291
- Hird, Myra J., 316
- Hirsch, Max, 152–53
- Hirschfeld, Magnus: on female sex drive, 65, 109; First World War and, 235–36; holistic category, sex/gender viewed as, 121; on homosexuality, 122, 123, 127, 128–29, 137, 139, 142, 150, 151; League for Protection of Mothers and, 198; Nazis and, 310; in postwar era, 273; on racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 193; sexology in early twentieth-century Germany and, 47, 52, 53, 56, 58; “Sexual Science as the Foundation of Sexual Reform,” 19; “Towards a Methodology of Sexual Science” (1908), 56
- Hite, Shere, 312
- Hoffmann, Erich, 158n22
- homosexuality, 39–40, 115–51; as congenital, 123; decriminalization/criminalization efforts, 52, 118, 124–25, 132, 133, 198; as degenerative, 123–24, 150; Elberskirchen’s “Woman-Identified Woman,” 139–44; female sex drive, beliefs about, 68, 109–10, 114; feminism and women’s rights associated with, 115–17, 119, 120–21, 127–33, 137–38, 143–44; First World War and, 235; German lesbian movements of 1920s and, 150–51; heteronormativity, general acceptance of, 109–10, 121–24, 127; holistic category, sex/gender viewed as, 120–21; marriage and reproduction, 123–24, 129–32,

- 136–37, 142–44, 148, 149–50;
Mayreder's synthetic human,
144–49; Meisel-Hess on women cohabiting, 212n57; in postwar era, 269, 273, 289, 300–302;
psychosomatic causes sought for,
123; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 119–20, 123–24,
136–37, 150; sexological theories of, 120–33; sexual ignorance and,
122–23n14; sexual intermediary
theory of, 121, 127, 140, 147;
sexual inversion theory of, 121,
124–26, 134–35, 147; as subversion
of gender norms and behavior,
122, 125; terminology for, 115n1;
as third (and fourth) sex, 116,
121, 126, 135, 140–41; Urninde,
Rüling on female homosexuality as,
134–39; women sexologists' models of, 117–20, 121, 133, 134–51
- Horney, Karen, 275n28
- Housewives Associations, 27n58
- Hrdy, Sarah Blaffer, 68n6
- Hull, Isabel, 28
- hygiene, racial/social. See racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
- hypertrichosis, 125
- hysteria: celibacy/abstinence and,
95–96; war hysterics, 273
- Ibsen, Henrik: A Doll's House (1879),
131; Ghosts (1881), 159, 172
- illegitimate children, calls for legal recognition of, 98, 198
- Imperial Civil Code (1900), 9, 74
- Imperial Law of Association (1908), 27
- individual or Adlerian psychology and Alfred Adler, 273, 274n24, 278, 291,
293–94, 296, 297, 299–300, 303
- Institute for Sexual Science, 56, 273,
310
- intellect and sexuality, 112–13, 125–26,
131, 135–36, 143
- International Abolitionist Federation,
72–73
- International Association for the Protection of Mothers and Sexual Reform, 44
- International Congress of Women
(1904), 119, 128, 138
- International Society for Sexual
Research, 44, 58, 62, 224, 274n24
- International Women's League for Peace and Freedom, 144
- Johnson, Virginia, 312
- Journal for Applied Psychology*, 278,
291, 292
- Journal for the Fight against Venereal
Diseases*, 56, 85, 203
- Journal for Individual Psychology*,
291–92
- Journal for Psychology and Physiology of the Sensory Organs*, 278
- Journal for School Health and Social Hygiene*, 291
- Journal for Sexual Science*, 3, 56, 85,
232, 261, 274n24, 277, 279n46
- Journal of Personality*, 292
- Kammerer, Paul, 274
- Katzenstein, Henriette. See Fürth,
Henriette
- Keller, H., 292
- Key, Ellen, 102n116, 132
- Kisch, E. Heinrich, *The Sexual
Unfaithfulness of Women* (1917),
242
- Kjellén, Rudolf, 23n46
- Klein, Melanie, 275n28
- Koedt, Anne, 312
- Koven, Seth, 130
- Kraepelin, Emil, Textbook of Psychiatry (1883), 105
- Krafft-Ebing, Richard von, 5n6,
32, 67, 90, 111, 125, 162, 193;
Psychopathia Sexualis (1886), 24,
76, 146; Textbook of Psychiatry
(1883), 81
- Krauss, Friedrich, 279n46
- Krische, Paul, 279
- Kundrus, Birthe, 224n4

- Lange, Helen, 153; "The Women's Movement and the Modern Critique of Marriage" (1909), 108–9
- Lankester, Ray, Degeneration (1880), 156
- Law Regarding the Support of Men in Military Service (1888/1914), 229
- Lazarsfeld, Sofie: as Adlerian or individual psychologist, 293–94, 296, 297, 299–300, 303; biographical information, 4, 324–25; collaboration with German reformers and intellectuals, 5–6; on homosexuality, 300–302; Nazis and, 311; in postwar era, 41, 265–67, 273, 275, 290–306; reception of Woman's Experience of the Male, 291–93; rehabilitation of heterosexual relations as goal of, 299–300, 302–4; on scientific knowledge about sex, 11–12; sex reforms proposed by, 297–99; on sexual difference, 294–96, 297; on sexual subordination of women, 294, 296–97; Vaerting compared, 290–91, 292, 293, 295, 304–6; Woman's Experience of the Male (1931), 11, 12, 265–66, 290–306; in women's history, 6
- League for a New Fatherland, 233
- League for the Protection of Mothers and Sexual Reform (Bund für Mutterschutz und Sexualreform): female sex drive and, 74, 86, 87, 101; feminism and women's movements, 198–99, 200; in First World War, 228, 233; Marcuse and, 58–61, 198; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 195–202; sexology in early twentieth-century Germany and, 52, 53, 54, 56, 59–60; on unwed mothers, 74, 198, 199, 230; women sexologists active in, 5, 7
- League of German Women's Associations (Bund Deutscher Frauenvereine or BDF), 26, 103, 152, 198, 227, 310
- League of Protestant Evangelical Women, 27n58
- Lees, Andrew, 51
- Lemke, Thomas, 23n46
- Leppänen, Katharina, 276n32
- lesbianism, as term in early twentieth-century Germany, 115n1. See also homosexuality
- Levine, Philippa, 191
- Lex Heinze (1900), 72
- life reform movement (Lebensreformbewegung), 23
- Lischnewska, Maria, 101, 197n29, 198
- Lombroso, Cesare, Criminal Man (1876), 156
- Lorde, Audre, 212–13n58
- Maeterlinck, Maurice, 178, 261
- male (hetero)sexuality critiqued, 40, 152–83; by Elberskirchen, 40, 154, 167, 168–71, 172, 173, 179–81, 183; in fin-de-siècle discourse, 155–63; First World War and, 224, 245–46, 260; lack of studies of male behavior, 152–54; by Mayreder, 40, 154, 163–67, 172, 173–77; by Meisel-Hess, 40, 153, 154, 167–68, 171–72, 173, 177–78, 183; normative, male heterosexual behavior treated as, 153–54; perceived threats to bourgeois masculinity and degeneration discourse, 155–57; sex reform proposals based on, 173–81; sexual instincts of men, beliefs about, 70, 159–60, 162–63; venereal diseases, public anxiety regarding, 154, 157–62; by women sexologists, 163–83
- Malthusian couple, 20, 21n38
- Malthusian theory, 192, 200, 216
- Mancini, Elena, 235
- Marcuse, Max, 15–16n23; Encyclopedia of Sexual Science (1923–26), 61; female sexologists and, 58–61, 85; League for Protection of Mothers and, 58–61, 198; on prolonged celibacy, 81; on racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 194; sexology in early twentieth-century Germany and, 32,

- 47, 53, 54–55, 58–62; on Vaerting's New Foundation, 277
- marriage and reproduction: abortion, 200, 216, 230–31, 257–58, 270, 284; birth control, 100, 200, 216, 230–31, 256–59, 260, 268, 272; divorce, 9, 149, 269; early marriage, women sexologists' support for, 98, 213; female sex drive and reproductive instinct distinguished, 66, 76–79, 90–92, 111, 300n64; homosexuality and, 123–24, 129–32, 136–37, 142–44, 148, 149–50; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued and, 175; marital sex guides, 270; maternal instinct, 66–68n6, 77, 90–92, 210; maternalists and maternalism, 130–32, 150, 188, 203, 234; monogamy, 97, 98, 100, 110, 207, 241, 251, 259, 270; postwar marriage and sex counseling centers, 268–69, 270, 271–73; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 185–86, 195, 217–18, 257–59; reforms proposed for, 98–99, 101–2, 210–13, 249–50; sexual-ethical consequences of World War I and, 241–45; state policing of women's sexual behavior at home in World War I, 226–27; venereal diseases threatening, 160, 162. See also League for the Protection of Mothers and Sexual Reform; "population question"; sexual selection; unwed mothers
- maternal instinct, 66–68n6, 77, 90–92, 210
- maternalists and maternalism, 130–32, 150, 188, 203, 234
- maternity. See marriage and reproduction
- matriarchy, 99, 169, 181, 281
- Matysik, Tracie, 122n14
- Mayreder, Rosa: access to scientific ideas, 29; biographical information, 4, 6, 325–26; Bloch and, 57; collaboration with German reformers and intellectuals, 5; Elberskirchen compared, 179, 181–82; on female homosexuality, 39, 117–18, 119, 121, 126, 133, 144–49, 150; in German Society for the Fight against Venereal Diseases, 161; League for Protection of Mothers and, 198n30; on love, 175–76; male sexologists' engagement with work of, 12; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued by, 40, 154, 163–67, 172, 173–77; Meisel-Hess compared, 167–68, 175, 177, 178, 181–82; "Memories of Youth from Rosa Mayreder, Part II: The Internal World," 145–46; Nazis and, 311; Rüling compared, 149; sex reform movements and proposals, 173–77; on synthetic human, 144–49; Towards a Critique of Femininity (1905), 12, 117–18, 144–45, 147, 148; in women's history, 6
- McRuer, Robert, 37–38
- Mead, Margaret, Coming of Age in Samoa (1928), 275
- Medical Society for Sexual Science and Eugenics, 44, 56, 58, 61, 193
- medicine. See science and medicine
- Meisel-Hess, Grete: biographical information, 4, 7, 87, 326–27; on capitalist patriarchy as cause of racial degeneration and sexual crisis, 204–7, 215–16; collaboration with German reformers and intellectuals, 5; death of, 261, 311; on duty of women to become/not to become mothers, 216–17; Elberskirchen compared, 181–82; on female sex drive, 39, 66, 68, 85, 87, 90–100, 102n116, 103, 111–12, 209–10; First World War and, 40, 223, 240, 244–45, 251, 253–59, 261; League for Protection of Mothers and, 198, 202; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued by, 40, 153, 154, 167–68, 171–72, 173, 177–78, 183; Mayreder compared, 167–68, 175, 177, 178, 181–82; negative eugenic measures opposed by, 214–16; postwar era sexual crisis and, 268; on racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 188–89, 195, 202–17, 218–19; sex reform proposals of, 97–100, 103, 173, 177–78, 208–14; sexology in early twentieth-century Germany and, 44; Stöcker compared, 219; Vaerting compared, 290; on women cohabiting, 212n57; in women's history, 6; works, reception, and influences, 202–5; writings and research of, 6

- Meisel-Hess, Grete (continued)
- Meisel-Hess, Grete, works: The Intellectuals (1911), 202; In the Modern Worldview (1901), 202, 205; The Nature of Sexuality (1916), 254–56; The Sexual Crisis (1909), 12, 44, 87, 90, 95, 202–4, 205, 213–14, 255; “The Sexual Morality of Woman—of Today and Later” (1911), 204–5; “Sexual Rights” (1912), 205
- Men's Alliance for Combating Public Immorality, 50
- Mensch, Ella, Iconoclasts in the Berlin Women's Movement (1906), 133
- Mesner, Maria, 270, 272, 273
- Michel, Sonya, 130
- misogyny, 13, 57, 126, 166, 178, 246
- Moll, Albert: on female sex drive, 92; on homosexuality, 119, 125, 126, 128, 138, 150; Research on the Libido Sexualis (1897), 76; sexology in early twentieth century and, 15, 32, 58, 60, 62
- Monism and Monists, 23n46, 102
- monogamous female/polygamous male discourse, 70, 163
- monogamy, 97, 98, 100, 110, 207, 241, 251, 259, 270
- Monthly Journal for Urinary Illness and Sexual Hygiene*, 85–86
- moral purity and sex reform movements, 45, 48–56
- Morel, Bénédict Augustin, Physical, Intellectual, and Moral Traits of Degeneration in the Human Species (1857), 156, 192
- Mosse, George, 155, 156
- motherhood. See marriage and reproduction
- Müller, Paula, 27n58
- Müller, Robert, 210
- Müller-Lyer, Franz, 67n6
- Munk, Sofie. See Lazarsfeld, Sofie
- Näcke, Paul, 163
- Napoleonic law, 71
- National Women's Service, 227–28
- natural selection, 192, 206, 208, 316
- nature and the natural: female sex drive as natural physiological necessity, 87–90, 93–95, 102–3, 107–8; feminist debate over the good versus the natural, 107–8; heterosexuality as purportedly natural norm, 110; new materialist feminism and, 313–20. See also racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
- Naval Association of German Women (Flottenbund deutscher Frauen), 134
- Nazis and Nazism, 38, 217, 310–11
- Neisser, Albert, 52, 90n81, 158n22, 161
- neo-Malthusianism, 192, 200, 216
- New Ethic, 200–201
- The New Generation* (journal), 1–2, 53, 56, 197, 202, 203, 221, 261, 279n46, 291
- New Home Economics*, 291
- new materialist feminism, 313–20
- New Woman, 123n14, 265, 268, 305
- Nietzsche, Friedrich, 23, 200, 201, 203
- nonnormative female subjectivities. See homosexuality
- Nordau, Max, Degeneration (1892), 156
- Nowacki, Bernd, 60
- nymphomania, 110
- Ober, Eduard, 52
- Obermayer, Rosa. See Mayreder, Rosa
- Offen, Karen, 130, 132
- Office for Mother Protection (Büro für Mutterschutz), 75

- pacifist movement, 228, 233–36, 237–38
- Papers from the Field of Sexual Research*, 62
- Pappritz, Anna, 73, 109, 118, 160, 161; Men's Morals (1903), 104–5
- Park, Mungo, 319
- patriarchy, 316; female sex drive and, 97, 99; First World War and, 224; homosexuality and, 119, 139, 144, 150; monogamous female/polygamous male discourse, 70, 163; moral purity organizations supporting, 50; in postwar period, 268, 281; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 186, 188, 199, 204, 205, 207, 218; unwed mothers under, 74; women sexologists critiquing, 27, 28, 40. See also male (hetero)sexuality critiqued
- Paul, Eden and Cedar, 44
- Paulsen, E., 292
- Pearson, Karl, 17n26
- Pelletier, Madeline, 132
- pendulum theory of sexual dominance (Vaerting), 283
- Plato, 142; Symposium, 126n26
- Ploetz, Alfred, 196, 199, 208, 211, 214, 215
- Political-Anthropological Review*, 203
- “population question”: birth control and, 100, 186, 200, 216, 230–31, 256–59, 260; dysgenic effects of war, concerns regarding, 239–40; marriage reform proposals, 249–50; in postwar period, 270; pronatalism and state efforts to increase birthrate, 222, 228–31, 239, 243, 252–54; sex ratio affected by World War I, 250–52; state regulation of sex lives in World War I and, 222, 223, 228–31; women sexologists on, 243, 250–54; women urged to return to domestic life at end of World War I, 261–62
- posthumanism, 313n8
- postwar era, 41, 264–306; domestic life, women's forced return to, 261–62, 264, 268; evolving gender roles in, 264–65, 267, 268–73; gender fluidity and sexual rigidity in, 266–67, 304–6; homosexuality in, 269, 273, 289, 300–302; Lazarsfeld and Woman's Experience of the Male, 290–304; marriage and sex counseling centers, 268–69, 270, 271–73; sexology in, 265, 267–75; sexual difference, perceptions of, 274–75, 280–87, 294–96, 297; Vaerting's New Foundation, 275–90
- pronatalism, 222, 228–31, 239, 243, 252–54
- Proposal for a German Criminal Code* (1909), 118
- prostitution: abolition of state regulation, calls for, 72–73, 160; double standard supporting, 72, 96, 226; early marriage, women sexologists' support for, 98, 213; female sex drive, beliefs about, 63, 64, 66, 70–74, 96, 97; First World War and, 96, 226–27, 251–52; legal broadening of definition of, 226; male clientele, venereal disease, and shift of attention from prostitutes to, 154, 158–60; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued and, 175; state regulation of, 63, 71–73, 226–27
- Protestantism, 7, 50
- Prussian Law of Association (1851), 27
- psychoanalysis and sexology, 273, 275n28
- Quarterly Reports of the Scientific Humanitarian Committee*, 235
- racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 40, 184–220, 308–9; appeal for female sexual theorists, 184–87; capitalist patriarchy as cause of racial degeneration and sexual crisis, 204–7, 215–16; degeneration theory and, 192, 194; duty of women to become/not to become mothers, 216–17;

- racial hygiene (continued)
 early twentieth-century obsession with, 185, 190–94; Elberskirchen on, 186, 187, 206; female sex drive and, 68, 88, 90, 102–3, 109–13; feminism and women's movements, 185–87, 195, 218; First World War and, 225, 236–37, 239–41, 243, 250, 254–60; "fitness," as term, 190; homosexuality and, 119–20, 123–24, 136–37, 150; League for the Protection of Mothers and Sexual Reform and, 195–202; Malthusian theory, 192, 200, 216; marriage and reproduction, 185–86, 195, 217–18, 257–59; Meisel-Hess on, 188–89, 195, 202–17, 218–19; minorities appealing to, 196; moral versus progressive eugenicists, 187, 194; negative eugenic measures, 194, 214–16, 240–41, 258–59; "race," as term, 189–90; as science, 184–85, 191–94; sex reform movements and, 54–55; sex reform proposals and, 208–14; sterilization of the unfit, 194, 214, 240, 241, 258–59; Stöcker's New Ethic and, 200–202; women sexologists' theories shaped by, 14–15, 36–38, 184–87, 194–95, 217–20. See also "population question"
- Reich, Wilhelm, 272–73
- Reitzenstein, Freiherr Ferdinand von, 279n46
- Repp, Kevin, 49
- reproduction. See marriage and reproduction
- Rich, Adrienne, 84
- Robb, George, 187
- Robinson, William J., 203
- Rohleder, Hermann, 18n29, 58, 81–82, 240–41, 249, 255
- Rosenau, Helene, 278–79
- Rosser, Sue V., 316
- Rüling, Anna: biographical information, 327–28; Elberskirchen compared, 141, 142, 144; on female homosexuality, 39, 117, 118, 119–20, 121, 126, 133, 134–39, 150, 151; German origins, 4; Mayreder compared, 149; Nazis and, 310; sex reform movements and, 53; Urninde, on female homosexuality as, 134–39; "What Interest Does the Women's Movement Have in Solving the Homosexual Problem?" (1904), 117, 133, 134; Who amongst You Is Free from Sin . . . Books from the Shady Side (1906), 134; in women's history, 6
- Russett, Cynthia Eagle, 319–20
- Salvarsan, 162
- Sayers, Janet, 316
- Scahudin, F., 158n22
- Scheven, Katharina, 73, 160, 161
- Schirmacher, Käthe, 310n2
- Schlesinger, Therese, 278
- Schreiber, Adele, 197n29, 198
- science and medicine: appeal of scientific knowledge about sex for women, 8–12, 29–32, 307–8; evolutionary theory, 15, 64, 66n6, 83–84, 170, 173–74, 191, 192, 236, 316, 317, 319–20; feminist problems with male science, 104–5, 107; new materialist feminism and, 313–20; political economic role of, in Germany, 45–48; racial hygiene and eugenics, as sciences, 184–85, 191–94. See also sexology in early twentieth century
- Scientific Humanitarian Committee (Wissenschaftlich-humanitäres Komitee), 7, 52, 53, 55, 86, 133, 134, 139
- Sex and Society* (journal), 203
- sex drive, female. See female sex drive
- sex education, 101, 175, 270
- sexology in early twentieth century, 39, 43–62, 309; Berlin as center of sexological studies, 47, 48; definition, origins, and historical development of sexology generally, 15–20; emergence of Germany as leader in international sexology, 43–44; field,

- treated as, 33–34, 307; First World War and, 231–42, 262–63; historical and anthropological evidence, use of, 279n46; holistic category, sex/gender viewed as, 120–21; homosexuality, theories of, 120–33; political economic role of sciences and medicine, 45–48; politics and gender politics of, 45, 56–62; postwar era, 265, 267–75; psychoanalysis and, 273, 275n28; sex reform and moral purity movements, 45, 48–56, 309; sexual ignorance and, 122–23n14; urbanization, interest in and concern about, 45, 47–48. See also women sexologists in Germany and Austria
- sex ratio affected by World War I, 250–52
- sex reform movements and proposals: critiques of male (hetero)sexuality and, 173–81; female sex drive beliefs and, 97–103; in First World War, 240–41, 247–50; by Lazarsfeld, in postwar era, 297–99; Nazis and, 310; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 208–14; sexology in early twentieth-century Germany and, 45, 48–56, 309. See also League for the Protection of Mothers and Sexual Reform
- sexual component, Vaerting's concept of, 285, 287–89
- sexual difference, postwar perceptions of, 274–75, 280–87, 294–96, 297
- sexual intermediary theory of homosexuality, 121, 127, 140, 147
- sexual inversion theory of homosexuality, 121, 124–26, 134–35, 147
- Sexual Problems* (journal), 15, 56, 59–61, 85, 203, 204, 242, 279n46
- sexual selection: female sex drive and, 83, 98; First World War and, 236–37, 252; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued and, 170–71, 173, 177, 181, 183; Meisel-Hess on racial degeneration and male domination of, 206, 210; new materialist feminism and, 317, 319; in postwar era, 252
- Sigus, Volkmar, 17n26, 20n35, 32, 60, 194
- Simon, Helene, and Adele Gerhard, Motherhood and Intellectual Labor (1901), 131
- situated knowledge, concept of, 12, 13
- Smith, Andrew, 159n27
- Snyder, J. Ross, 67n6
- Social Darwinism, 192n14
- Social Democratic Party, 26, 49n22, 271
- Social Harmony (organization), 200
- social hygiene. See racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic
- Socialist Monthly Magazine*, 101
- Socialist Society for Sexual Advice and Sexual Research, 272–73
- Social Reform Decrees (February Decrees; 1890), 49–50
- Society for Racial Hygiene, 61, 196–96
- Soloway, Richard, 185, 191–92n12
- Sombart, Werner, 198
- Spier, Ike, 236–37
- spirituality: female sex drive and, 76, 93, 96, 101, 107, 113; homosexuality and, 124, 139, 141, 142, 143; motherhood and, 91, 130
- Spohr, Max, 52
- Springer, Bruno, 6
- Sprüngli, Theo Anna. See Rüling, Anna
- Steinach, Eugen, 274
- sterilization of the unfit, 194, 214, 240, 241, 258–59
- Stöcker, Helene: biographical information, 4, 6, 7, 328–29; First World War and, 40, 221–23, 233–36, 245–46, 253, 258, 261; in German Society for the Fight against Venereal Diseases, 161; historiographical attention to women sexologists and, 32; on homosexuality, 118; League for Protection of Mothers and, 197n29, 198, 200–202; Meisel-Hess compared, 219; Nazis and, 310; on New Ethic, 200–202; sexology in early twentieth-century

- Stöcker, Helene (continued)
 Germany and, 53, 57, 58–59, 61; on Vaerting's New Foundation, 278; in women's history, 6
- Stöcker, Helene, works: "Hatred of Other Peoples and the Press" (1917), 234; "Humanity" (1916), 235; Love and Women (1906), 218; "Love or Hate?" (1914), 233; "New Foundations for Sexology" (1914), 1–3; "Sex Psychology and War" (1915), 233, 234; "The Sexual Double Standard in the War" (1915), 247; "Toward the Reform of Sexual Ethics" (1905), 201; "The War and Women" (1914), 233
- Stopes, Marie, 295–96
- Stritt, Marie, 26n58, 133, 152–53, 161, 198
- The Struggle* (journal), 278, 291
- suffragist movement, 3, 27n59, 86, 87, 131n48, 138, 228
- Symonds, John Addington, and Havelock Ellis, Sexual Inversion (1897), 24, 43, 125
- synthetic human, Mayreder on, 144–49
- third (and fourth) sex, homosexuals viewed as, 116, 121, 126, 135, 140–41
- Thompson, Helen, 288
- Tiefer, Leonore, 312
- Todd, Lisa, 226
- Ulrichs, Karl Heinrich, 124, 126, 139, 146–47
- Union of Progressive Women's Associations (Verband Fortschrittlicher Frauenvereine or VFF), 26, 72
- unwed mothers: female sex drive and, 66, 74–75; in First World War, 230; League for the Protection of Mothers and, 74, 198, 199; legal recognition of children of, calls for, 98, 198
- Uranians and Uranism, 126. See also homosexuality
- urbanization: degeneration discourse and, 155, 157; German interest in and concern about, 45, 47–48; growth of prostitution and, 70–71; venereal diseases, spread of, 154, 157
- Urninde, Rülmg on female homosexuality as, 134–39
- Usborne, Cornelia, 229
- Vaerting, Mathias, 276
- Vaerting, Mathilde: biographical information, 4, 7, 329–31; First World War and, 40, 224–25, 243, 249–52, 257–58, 275; historical and anthropological evidence, use of, 279–80; on homosexuality, 289; Lazarsfeld compared, 290–91, 292, 293, 295, 304–6; Meisel-Hess compared, 290; Nazis and, 310; pendulum theory of sexual dominance, 283; in postwar era, 41, 265–67, 275–90, 304–6; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic, 276; on scientific knowledge about sex, 11; on sex difference, sexual (in)equality, and sex dominance, 280–87, 289–90; sexual component, concept of, 285, 287–89; in women's history, 6
- Vaerting, Mathilde, works: Female Character (vol. 1 of New Foundation, 1921), 276, 277, 278, 279–81, 283–85; New Foundation for the Psychology of Sex (1921, 1923), 12, 265–66, 275–90, 292, 293, 304–6; "On the Influence of the War on Sex with Contraceptives (Präventivverkehr) and Abortion and Their Eugenic Consequences," 257; "Physiological Origins of Intellectual High Achievement by Man and Woman" (1922), 61–62; reception of New Foundation, 276–79; Truth and Misconception (vol. 2 of New Foundation, 1923), 276, 277, 279, 284–85, 287, 289, 290
- Valentine, Kylie, 318
- Vanselow, Karl, 18

- venereal diseases: criminalization of sexual transmission of, 161–62, 231–32; in First World War, 226, 230, 248; German Society for the Fight against Venereal Diseases, 7, 52, 55–56, 63, 74, 87, 157, 160–61; male (hetero)sexuality critiqued and, 154, 157–62; males as vector of, 154, 158–60; as moral issue, 157–58; treatment clinics, 230, 248
- VFF (Union of Progressive Women's Associations or Verband Fortschrittlicher Frauenvereine), 26, 72
- Vidal, Fernando, 10
- Viennese Association for Individual Psychology, 291
- Virchow, Rudolf, 8, 23n46
- Voigtländer, Else, 277–78
- Wagner, Elin, 279
- Wagner, Richard, 178
- Weber, Marianne, 109; "Sexual-Ethical Principal Questions" (1909), 107
- Weber, Max, 198
- Weindling, Paul, 22, 30, 45–46, 47, 196, 229n21
- Weininger, Otto, 126, 127, 136, 138, 149
- welfare state in Germany: creation of, 46, 191; First World War and, 229–30, 240–41, 250; postwar period, 270
- Westheimer, Ruth, 312
- White Cross League, 50
- Wilde, Oscar, 156
- Wilhelm II (Kaiser), 39, 49, 118, 229
- Willard, Elizabeth Osgood Goodrich, 17n26
- Wilson, Elizabeth, 315
- Wolff, Charlotte, 151, 235n47, 312
- Wolff, Julius, 58, 60
- Wollstonecraft, Mary, 304
- The Woman in the State* (journal), 278, 291, 292
- women sexologists in Germany and Austria (1900–1933), 1–42, 307–20; appeal of scientific knowledge about sex for women, 8–12, 29–32, 307–8; Austria and Germany, cultural and intellectual interconnectedness of, 4–6; biopolitics and, 21–25, 34–38; cognitive biases and social prejudices of, 13–14, 35–38; definition, origins, and historical development of sexology, 15–20, 39; field, sexology treated as, 33–34, 307; Foucault's historiography of sexuality and, 14–15, 20–25, 30, 31, 34; gender politics as lens for reconceptualizing sexology, 14–15, 32–34; German cultural and intellectual ties with Austria and Europe generally, 4–6; historiographical attention, importance of, 32, 311–13; legal position of women in early twentieth-century Germany, 9–10, 27, 261, 268; Nazis and Nazism, 38, 217, 310–11; new materialist feminism and, 313–20; power and authority, sexology as focal point for, 8–9, 24–25; role of, 6, 12–13, 31–32, 57–62; significance of time period, 1–2; similarities and differences of women studied, 6–8; treatment of women in sexual research, critiques of, 2–4, 11, 104–5, 285–86; "the woman question" and German women's movement, 25–29. See also female sex drive; feminism and women's movements; First World War; homosexuality; male (hetero) sexuality critiqued; postwar era; racial hygiene, eugenics, and the body politic; sexology in early twentieth century
- women's movements. See feminism and women's movements
- World League for Sexual Reform, 44, 139, 274, 309
- World War I. See First World War
- Yearbook for Sexual Intermediaries*, 55, 129
- Young, Rebecca Jordan, 319