Table of Contents

Acl	Acknowledgments
List of Illustrations PART ONE		viii 1
	Colleen McQuillen and Julia Vaingurt	1
	A. Critical Posthumanism	1
	B. Posthumanism in Russia	14
	C. Overview of the Contributions	31
PA	RT TWO
Qu	estions of Ethics and Alterity	37
1.	Our Posthuman Past: Subjectivity, History, and Utopia in Late-Soviet Science Fiction
	Elana Gomel, Tel Aviv University	37
2.	Digressions in Progress: Posthuman Loneliness and the Will to Play in the Work of the Strugatsky Brothers
	Julia Vaingurt, University of Illinois at Chicago	55
3.	Humans, Animals, Machines: Scenarios of Raschelovechivanie in Gray Goo and Matisse
	Sofya Khagi, University of Michigan	69
PA	RT THREE
Nat	Natural, Built, and Imagined Environments
4.	Human Adaptation in Late-Soviet Environmental Science Fiction Colleen McQuillen, University of Illinois at Chicago	99
5.	"Drilled Humans" or Automated Systems? Reconsidering Human-Machine Integration in Late-Soviet Design
	Diana Kurkovsky West, Northwestern University	114

PART FOUR

Tec	Technologies of the Self
6.	Romantic Aesthetics and Cybernetic Fiction Jacob Emery, Indiana University	137
7.	Writing and Technology: Writing the Self in "Real Time" Kristina Toland, Bowdoin College	158
8.	Modes of Perception in Transmodal Fiction: New Russian Subjectivity
	Katerina Lakhmitko, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign	180
PAF	RT FIVE
Politics and Social Action		197
9.	Nothing but Mammals: Post-Soviet Sexuality after the End of History
	Trevor Wilson, University of Pittsburgh	197
10.	Postsocialist Platonov: The Question of Humanism and the New Russian Left
	Jonathan Brooks Platt, Higher School of Economics, Saint Petersburg	218
PAF	RT SIX
Arti	Artistic Practices
11.	An Interview with Keti Chukhrov about Love Machines Alina Kotova, Cine Fantom	245
12.	Some Entropy in Your Tea: Notes on the Ontopoetics of Artificial Intelligence
	Alex Anikina, Goldsmiths, University of London	254
Index		2.62