A CENTURY OF JEWISH LIFE IN SHANGHAI

Edited by STEVE HOCHSTADT

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Hochstadt, Steve, 1948- editor.

Title: A century of Jewish life in Shanghai / edited by Steve Hochstadt.

Description: New York : Touro University Press ; Boston Academic Studies Press, 2019. | Proceedings of a conference which took place in Shanghai in June 2015. | Includes bibliographical references and index. | Summary: "For a century, Jews were an unmistakable and prominent feature of Shanghai life. They built hotels and stood in bread lines, hobnobbed with the British and Chinese elites and were confined to a wartime ghetto. Jews taught at the Shanghai Conservatory of Music, sold Viennese pastries, and shared the worst slum with native Shanghainese. Three waves of Jews, representing three religious and ethnic communities, landed in Shanghai, remained separate for decades, but faced the calamity of World War II and ultimate dissolution together. In this book, we hear their own words and the words of modern scholars explaining how Baghdadi, Russian and Central European Jews found their way to Shanghai, created lives in the world's most cosmopolitan city, and were forced to find new homes in the late 1940s"-- Provided by publisher.
