

List of Tables

Int.1	The contents of London, BL, Cotton Tiberius A. iii.	2
1.1	The probable quire format of T based upon the number of lines per page.	24
1.2	The “Manuskripte” in T according to Max Förster, “Beiträge zur mittelalterlichen Volkskunde III.”	25
1.3	Quire Diagram.	26
1.4	Comparison of the opening of the Wulfstanian homily T67 with the I Cnut laws of 1020.	36
1.5	The capitalization of saints’ names in Anglo-Saxon litanies.	39
3.1	Other MSS which contain elements of the monastic collection at the opening of T, the Rule of Benedict and the supplemental texts T2–6.	111
4.1	The relationship among different configurations of the text framed by Wulfstan’s Pastoral Letter , the contents of each manuscript and the order in which the different elements appear.	178
4.2	Fowler’s table of manuscripts (sigla adapted) which include part of the Old English Handbook .	192
4.3	The confessional collections in T with their occurrence in other manuscripts.	194
4.4	The use of the Old English Introduction in T and other manuscripts.	201
4.5	Relationship between the ordo in T34 and T41 and a similar confessional ordo in Oxford, Bodleian Library, Bodley 718.	208
4.6	A synopsis of the key elements of the confessional prayer T37.	216
5.1	Proximity of the prognostics, pedagogy and commonplace/dialogue answers in T.	225
5.2	The origins and manuscript contexts of Anglo-Saxon commonplace/dialogue answers.	237
5.3	Correspondences between the commonplace/dialogue answers in T and the didactic dialogues and other commonplace/dialogue answers in other manuscripts.	240
5.4	The position, language, scribe and type of the prognostics in T.	247
Con.1	Simplified categorization of the contents of T.	268