

CONTENTS

---

Acknowledgements	ix
List of Maps and Figures	xi
Introduction: The Franco-American Mésentente	1
1. The Free French and the Americans before Pearl Harbor	7
France under Siege	7
De Gaulle, the Formation of the Free French, and Colonial Resistance	12
Disaster at Dakar	15
The Empire Defense Council and the Allies in the Tropics	19
Free-French Representation in the United States	24
2. The New Caledonian Rally to the Free French	33
Disunity in Local Allegiances and Foreign Interests	36
The Political Showdown Begins	42
The New Caledonian Coup	48
Pro-Vichy Partisans	53
3. New Caledonia in Limbo: Preparing for War in the Pacific	61
Local and Foreign Anxieties over New Caledonia's Defense	61
De Gaulle's Desire for Centralized Control and the Brunot Mission	69
The d'Argenlieu Mission	73
4. Going to Pieces: The 1942 Riot	84
The Americans Arrive: January–March '42	86
New Caledonia in Political and Military Crisis: April '42	93
Things Go Awry: May '42	98
Calm is Restored but, Mésentente Sets In: May–July '42	107

5. The Rooster and the Eagle: Governor Montchamp, Admiral Halsey, and the American Occupation	118
Admiral Halsey's Arrival	119
Guadalcanal, the Solomons Campaign, and the Expansion of U.S. Military Presence: August '42–August '43	123
The Governor's Graveyard: Montchamp, d'Argenlieu, and Vergès	134
6. Governor Laigret and the American Economic and Cultural Challenge	142
Local Politics and the Arrival of Governor Laigret	142
Grievances and Complaints against the Americans	148
Laigret's Anti-Americanist Campaign and Increasing Mésentente	158
American Ambitions for New Caledonia?	165
7. Roosevelt and de Gaulle: Conflicting Visions of a Postwar World Order	173
Anticolonialism and Yankee Imperialism	173
Anti-Americanism and the French Empire	178
American Security and the Fate of the French Colonies in the Pacific Liberation, 1944	185
	189
8. From Combat Base to Rest and Rehabilitation Area: The American Departure	198
Governor Tallec	198
Autonomist Sentiment and Social and Labor Unrest	204
American Materialism, Entertainment and the Issue of Withdrawal	210
Anti-Communism versus Anticolonialism	218
Conclusion: V-J Day and Postwar Assessments, Accounts and Balances	226
Bibliography	233
Index	239