

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	vii
Anthropology and the Expeditionary Imaginary: An Introduction to the Volume	1
Martin Thomas and Amanda Harris
Part I. Anthropology and the Field: Intermediaries and Exchange
Chapter 1. Assembling the Ethnographic Field: The 1901–02 Expedition of Baldwin Spencer and Francis Gillen	37
Philip Batty
Chapter 2. Receiving Guests: The Cambridge Anthropological Expedition to Torres Straits 1898	64
Jude Philp
Chapter 3. Donald Thomson’s Hybrid Expeditions: Anthropology, Biology and Narrative in Northern Australia and England	95
Saskia Beudel
Part II. Exploration, Archaeology, Race and Emergent Anthropology
Chapter 4. Looking at Culture through an Artist’s Eyes: William Henry Holmes and the Exploration of Native American Archaeology	127
Pamela M. Henson
Chapter 5. The Anomalous Blonds of the Maghreb: Carleton Coon Invents the African Nordics	150
Warwick Anderson
Chapter 6. Medium, Genre, Indigenous Presence: Spanish Expeditionary Encounters in the Mar del Sur, 1606	175
Bronwen Douglas

Chapter 7. Ethnographic Inquiry on Phillip Parker King's Hydrographic Survey Tiffany Shellam	205
Part III. The Question of Gender
Chapter 8. Gender and the Expedition: Feminist Anthropologist Elsie Clews Parsons and the Politics of Fieldwork in the Americas in the 1920s and 1930s Desley Deacon	235
Chapter 9. What Has Been Forgotten? The Discourses of Margaret Mead and the American Museum of Natural History Sepik Expedition Diane Losche	263
Chapter 10. Gender, Science and Imperial Drive: Margaret McArthur on Two Expeditions in the 1940s Amanda Harris	290
Index	313