

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables	vii
Introduction
What Is Work? Gender at the Crossroads of Home, Family, and Business from the Early Modern Era to the Present Raffaella Sarti, Anna Bellavitis, and Manuela Martini	1
I. SETTING THE SCENE: THE FEMINIST CHALLENGES TO THE “DELABORIZATION” OF HOUSEHOLD WORK	85
1 Family Work: A Policy-Relevant Intellectual History Nancy Folbre	89
2 Productive and Reproductive Work: Uses and Abuses of an Old Dichotomy Alessandra Pescarolo	114
3 The Home as a Factory: Rethinking the Debate on Housewives’ Wages in Italy, 1929–1980 Alessandra Gissi	139
II. THE CUNNING HISTORIAN: UNVEILING AND OVERCOMING THE GENDER BIAS OF SOURCES	161
4 The Statistical Construction of Women’s Work and the Male Breadwinner Economy in Spain (1856–1930) Cristina Borderías	165
5 Toiling Women, Non-working Housewives, and Lesser Citizens: Statistical and Legal Constructions of Female Work and Citizenship in Italy Raffaella Sarti	188

6	The Complexities of Work: Analyzing Men's and Women's Work in the Early Modern World with the Verb-Oriented Method Maria Ågren	226
7	The Visibility of Women's Work: Logics and Contexts of Documents' Production Margareth Lanzinger	243
III. THE VALUE OF CARE AND UNPAID HOME-BASED WORK: THE ROLE OF THE LAW		265
8	Regulating Home Labors: The ILO and the Feminization of Work Eileen Boris	269
9	Family-Relations Law between "Stratification" and "Resistance": Housework and Family Law Exceptionalism Maria Rosaria Marella	295
10	Could Family (Care) Work Be Paid? From French Agricultural Inheritance Law (1939) to Legal Recognition of Excessive Filial Duty (1994) Florence Weber	326
IV. CONCLUSION
Conclusion Can We Construct a Holistic Approach to Women's Labor History over the Longue Durée ? Laura Lee Downs		349
Index		368