

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|-------------|
| Preface | xi |
| What to expect | xiii |
| List of Maps, Plates, Figures and Tables | xv |
| Acknowledgements | xvii |
| Chapter 1: Introduction | 1 |
| Malawi's major ethnic groups | 2 |
| Recording history and culture before the colonial period | 6 |
| Recording history during the colonial period | 7 |
| The postcolonial period | 15 |
| Intensive research on the history and culture of the Chewa | 19 |
| Summary | 21 |
| Chapter 2: The Bantu origins of the Chewa | 22 |
| Expansion of the Bantu | 23 |
| The Western Stream | 24 |
| The Eastern Stream | 25 |
| Dispersal from the Great Lakes region | 26 |
| Pottery traditions | 26 |
| Contact with hunter-gatherers | 31 |
| Whence the Chewa | 32 |
| Summary | 33 |
| Chapter 3: The origins and migrations of the Chewa according to their oral traditions | 35 |
| Oral traditions | 35 |
| Chewa clan names and titles | 37 |
| Abandoning Luba | 39 |
| Migrations of the pre-Maravi | 41 |
| Contact with local inhabitants | 43 |
| The pre-Maravi at Kaphirintiwa-Msinja | 45 |
| Migrations of the Maravi | 47 |
| The Maravi at Kaphirintiwa-Msinja | 50 |

| | |
|---|------------|
| From Kaphirintiwa-Msinja to Mankhamba | 52 |
| Summary | 53 |
| Chapter 4: Expansion of the Chewa according to their oral traditions | 55 |
| Kaphwiti and Lundu | 55 |
| Undi | 58 |
| Changamire | 60 |
| Chulu | 61 |
| Kanyenda | 62 |
| Mkanda | 62 |
| Summary | 64 |
| Chapter 5: The practice of archaeology | 66 |
| What is archaeology? | 66 |
| The prehistoric period | 68 |
| Locating archaeological sites | 68 |
| Sampling sites | 76 |
| Excavating archaeological sites | 77 |
| Analysis of material remains | 81 |
| Chronology | 82 |
| Reporting results and curating material remains | 86 |
| Summary | 87 |
| Chapter 6: The Iron Age archaeology of the southern Lake Malawi area | 89 |
| The environment of the southern Lake Malawi area | 89 |
| The importance of pottery in Iron Age studies | 93 |
| Previous archaeological investigations in the southern Lake Malawi area | 96 |
| Iron Age way of life in the southern Lake Malawi area | 108 |
| Summary | 110 |
| Chapter 7: The discovery and excavation of the Mankhamba site | 111 |
| Finding Mankhamba | 112 |
| Mankhamba and its neighbourhood | 113 |
| Excavations | 116 |
| Stratigraphy | 118 |
| The finds | 120 |
| Dating of the site | 121 |
| Summary | 122 |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Chapter 8: Ceramic and stone objects | 124 |
| Local ceramics | 124 |
| Imported ceramics | 132 |
| Daga | 135 |
| Lithic objects | 135 |
| Summary | 138 |
| Chapter 9: Metal objects and beads | 139 |
| Iron objects | 139 |
| Silver and lead objects | 142 |
| Copper objects | 142 |
| Beads | 146 |
| Summary | 148 |
| Chapter 10: Faunal remains | 149 |
| Recovery and treatment of the faunal remains | 150 |
| Quantification of the faunal assemblage | 157 |
| Wild animals | 159 |
| Domestic animals | 165 |
| Worked objects | 167 |
| Summary | 170 |
| Chapter 11: The Chewa at Mankhamba | 171 |
| Founding the Mankhamba settlement | 171 |
| What did the Mankhamba settlement look like? | 174 |
| Metallurgy | 175 |
| Other industries | 176 |
| Mixed farming | 179 |
| Hunting | 182 |
| Fishing | 184 |
| Aesthetics | 185 |
| Summary | 185 |
| Chapter 12: Long-distance trade and the rise of the Maravi empire | 186 |
| Trade at Mankhamba | 187 |
| The Maravi state | 194 |
| Emperor Muzura and the Maravi empire | 196 |
| Summary | 202 |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Chapter 13: The demise of the Maravi empire | 204 |
| The slave trade, the Yao, the Maseko Ngoni and the British | 206 |
| Kalonga Sosola Kalimakudzulu | 207 |
| Sosola's efforts to contain the Yao and the Maseko Ngoni | 208 |
| The British, end of the slave trade and the disempowerment of indigenous chiefs | 210 |
| Summary | 211 |
| Chapter 14: Conclusion | 213 |
| The Chewa-Luba connection | 213 |
| Migrations | 215 |
| The Maravi empire | 216 |
| The way forward | 217 |
| Summary | 218 |
| References | 219 |
| Index | 235 |