

Acknowledgments

All the contributors to this volume join with the editors in expressing our profound gratitude to James Dunk for his intellectual guidance, his exceptional organizational and editorial skills, and his grace and efficiency in making sure these important essays could be published. Without his patience, enthusiasm, and insight, this collection would not exist.

Some of the research presented in this book was first presented and discussed within the framework of “Racial Conceptions in the Twentieth-Century: Comparisons, Connections and Circulations in the Portuguese-Speaking Global South” in Rio de Janeiro 5–7 April 2016. The contributors were able to come together thanks to the support of Warwick Anderson’s “Race and Ethnicity in the Global South” Laureate Fellowship research program at the University of Sydney (Australian Research Council FL110100243), the Wellcome Trust (Medical Humanities grant 109340/Z/15/Z), and the Brazilian National Council for Scientific and Technological Development (CNPq grant 304.358/2014-2). James Dunk, Elaine Barroso, and Carlos Coimbra Jr. looked after the complicated logistics, while Ricardo Ventura Santos was a generous host. We thank Nélia Dias, Peter Fry, Sebastián Gil-Riaño, Ilana Löwy, Peter Wade, and Sarah Walsh for their stimulating comments and discussion. Sebastián and Sarah later wrote an extensive report for the 2016 History of Anthropology Newsletter.¹

Gabriela Soto Laveaga, Cristiana Bastos, and Hans Pols gave helpful advice on framing the introduction to this volume. Ricardo Roque ensured the editors were able to write the introduction and arrange the collection in Lisbon. During the past year, it was a great pleasure to work with Chris Chappell, Amanda Horn, and Soyolmaa Lkhagvadorj at Berghahn.
