

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This has been a collaborative endeavour from the beginning, and we are grateful to the German National Science Council (WO 550-6-2) and the French National Research Agency (ANR-11-FRAL-0012) for funding our French-German research project ‘The Metamorphosis of Equality’ from 2011 to 2016. Olivier Giraud and Theresa Wobbe also thank the Käthe Hamburger International Centre ‘Work and Human Lifecycle in Global History’ (re: work), Humboldt University of Berlin, for its support during their fellowship years 2012–13 and 2014–15. Isabelle Berrebi-Hoffmann thanks the Department of History of Harvard University for its invitation and support during her two visiting years 2015–17. Further, Theresa Wobbe is very grateful to the Fritz Thyssen Foundation for funding the Conference ‘International Labour Organization as Producer of Statistical Knowledge’ in February 2016. We are deeply grateful to Juergen Kocka for his support.

The editors thank the Centre Marc Bloch, the University of Potsdam, the Conservatoire national des arts et metiers (cnam) in Paris, and the Gender Research Group of the Laboratory for Research in Economic Sociology (Lise), at the French National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS). Without the project members, our research assistants and our colleagues, this book would not have come into existence. We warmly express our thanks to Pamela Wehling for her contribution to the project, and to Leora Auslander, Sigrid Betzelt, Hans-Georg Haupt, Karin Hausen, Tamar Herzog, Milena Kremakova, Lydia Malmedie, Catherine Marry, Manuela Martini, Valeska Korff, Marie-Thérèse Letablier, Régis Schlagdenhaufen, Ursula Rust, Nikola Tietze, Raf Vanderstraeten, Sigrid Wadauer, Bernard Zarca and Bénédicte Zimmermann for their helpful comments. We thank the research assistants Charles-Eric Adam, Theresa Adenstedt, Max Fröbel, Ivan Getmancev, Emil Herrling, Susanne Kalka, Antonia May, Theres Matthieß, Bianca Nagel and Max Schultz for their steady support and enthusiasm. Finally, a word of gratitude to Chris Chappell and two anonymous referees for their editorial guidance, as well as to Anne Gillet for her editing support.

