

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	vii
Foreword	ix
Timothy Hampton
List of Contributors	xi
Acknowledgements	xv
Note on Editions and Translations	xvi
Introduction	1
Phillip John Usher and Isabelle Fernbach
Part I: Pastoral and Georgic Modes
1. Virgil and Marot: Imitation, Satire and Personal Identity	19
Bernd Renner
2. Virgil's Bucolic Legacy in Jacques Yver's Le Printemps d'Yver	39
Margaret Harp
3. On the Magical Statues in Lemaire de Belges's Le Temple d'honneur et de vertus	59
Michael Randall
4. Temples of Virtue: Worshipping Virgil in Sixteenth-Century France	73
Stéphanie Lecompte (Translated by Penelope Meyers)
5. From Copy to Copia : Imitation and Authorship in Joachim Du Bellay's Divers Jeux Rustiques (1558)	93
Isabelle Fernbach
Part II: The Epic Mode
6. Virgilian Space in Renaissance French Translations of the Aeneid	117
Valerie Worth-Stylianou
7. Virgil versus Homer: Reception, Imitation, Identity in the French Renaissance	141
Philip Ford

8.	The Aeneid in the 1530s: Reading with the Limoges Enamels Phillip John Usher	161
9.	At the Helm, Second in Command: Du Bellay and La Mort de Palinure Corinne Noirot-Maguire	189
10.	Du Bellay's Dido and the Translation of Nation Todd W. Reeser	213
11.	“Avec la terre on possède la guerre”: The Problem of Place in Ronsard's Franciade Katherine Maynard	237
	Index	257