

Contents

Foreword BIRD	4
Fluid Design & Research	5
Design as Research Paradigm	7
Design as a Transitory Discipline	8
The Things in Design	9
The Production of Things Through Use	10
Relevance in Relation to Research	14
Explorations	15
A View of Other Disciplines	17
Use and Redefinitions of Use in Literature	19
A Synopsis of Design History from the Perspective of Use	19
The Cultural History of Object Use	20
Design Publications	23
Use and Usefulness in Sociology	25
Related Strategies of Discovery	27
Art and Literature	29
Architecture	30
Science	31
Intentional Re-Design	33
Design as a Manifesto	35
Scarcity Societies	41
German Democratic Republic (GDR): Instructions for DIY	42
The Post-War Period: Turning Steel Helmets into Chamber Pots	43
"Third World": Recycling the Waste of the Rich	44
Ecological Design	45
Deliberate Abandonment of Products	48
Commercialization	49
DIYers and Hobbyists	49
Strategies of Appropriation	50
Non-Intentional Design from an Empiricist Perspective	53
Contradictions in the Object: Design Intention and Use	55
Form and Function as Characteristics of Use	55
Dealing with Meaning	56
Everyday Use – Design Intention	58
The Privacy of Home	60
Public Space	74
New Media	89
The Personal Computer	89
NID in the Area of Computer Software – Example: Internet	96
The Subjects: Objects of, and Reasons for, Repurposing	103
Methodology	105
The Sample	106
Spaces and Rooms	108
Gender Comparison of Instances of Repurposing by Room or Space	108
Repurposed Objects	112
Gender Comparison of Instances of Repurposing	112
Personal NIDs and Favourite NIDs	115
Reasons for Repurposing	115
Preferences	115
Gender Comparison of Reasons for Repurposing	116

Exemplary Target Group Differentiation: Nationality, Profession, Age	117
Example: Nationality	117
Example: Profession	117
Example: Age Group	118
The Objects	121
Simple Things	124
Cheap Products and Disposable Products	126
Multifunctional Products	132
Media Products	135
Radio and Television	136
The Car	138
Architectural Elements: Walls, Floors, Stairs	142
The Wall: Noticeboard and Supporting Structure	142
The Floor: Interior and Exterior Seating Alternative	144
The Stairs: A Place for Sitting, Playing, and Sports	144
The Process of Discovery	147
Product Characteristics: Form, Material, Value, and Availability	149
The Time Factor: Finding a Solution and Permanent Changes of Use	150
Reversibility: Returning to the Original State	151
An Example: Rain Protection without Umbrellas	152
Personality: Pro or Contra Types	154
Non-Intentional Design in Public Spaces	155
Designed Environments	157
Urban Passengers	158
Objects in Public Spaces	158
Private Objects and Communal Goods	159
Repurposing: Sitting, Informing, Securing	160
Sitting	160
Providing Information	164
Securing Bicycles	166
Constructive and Destructive Repurposing	168
Appropriation	168
Self-Determination	170
Public Man – Private Woman?	171
Design between Subject and Object	175
The Beautiful and the Good according to Plato	177
From Idea to Object: Design	178
From Object to Idea: Non-Intentional Design	180
Design as Applied Philosophy	181
What's in a Name	183
Authority of Design – Autonomy in Use	184
Non-Intentional Design as a Basis for an Open Design Approach	184
 Bibliography	186
The Authors	190
Picture Credits	191