

Contents

Albrecht Classen

Introduction — 1

Maedhbh M. Nic Dhonnchadha

Constructing the Early Irish Cult of Brigit — 155

Xenia Sosnowski

A Prince Under the Spell of the Devil? The Outburst of Charles the Fat in 873 C.E. — 175

Rosemarie Danziger

The Epic Hagiography as Scriptural Genre and its Pictorial Rendering in the Saint-Savin-sur-Gartempe Crypt Frescos — 206

Feargal Ó Béarra

Buile Shuibhne: vox insaniae* from Medieval Ireland — 242

Susanna Niiranen

At the Crossroads of Religion, Magic, Science and Written Culture — 290

Eliza Buhner

“But what is to be said of a fool?”

Intellectual Disability in Medieval Thought and Culture — 314

Lia B. Ross

Body and Spirit: Martial Practices Among Monastic Orders — 344

Jean E. Jost

Spirituality in the Late Middle Ages: Affective Piety in the Pricke of Conscience H.M. 128 — 387

Scott L. Taylor

Affectus secundam scientiam: Cognitio experimentalis* and Jean Gerson’s Psychology of the Whole Person — 406

Thomas G. Benedek

A Comparison of the Psychological Insights of Petrarch and Johann Weyer — 424

David Tomíček

Mental Health in Bohemian Medical Writings of the 14th–16th Centuries — 464

Liliana Leopardi

Magic Healing and Embodied Sensory Faculties in Camillo Leonardi's Speculum Lapidum — 480

Andrew Weeks

The Invisible Diseases of Paracelsus and the Cosmic Reformation — 507

Thomas Willard

Paracelsus on Mental Health — 524

Marilyn Sandidge

Banishing “Franticks” in a Royal Wedding Celebration: Campion's
The Lords' Masque — 557

Bo Andersson

Order in Insanity: Eva Margaretha Frölich (d. 1692) and her National Swedish Eschatology — 579

Florian Westhagen and Tünde Beatrix Karnitscher

Melancholy as the Condition of Knowledge in Jakob Böhme's Aurora — 593

Martha Moffitt Peacock

The Inner Cause and the Better Choice: Anna Maria van Schurman, Self-Fashioning, and the Attraction of the Labadist Religion — 607

Allison P. Coudert

Melancholy, Madness, and Demonic Possession in the Early Modern West — 647

Hester E. Oberman

A Postmodern Perspective on Mental Health, Spirituality, and Religion — 690

List of Illustrations — 712

Contributors — 715

Index — 725