

Acknowledgements

The organization of the conference in Heidelberg and the publication of this volume would not have been possible without the help and support of institutions and colleagues. Funding for the conference was granted by the CRC 933 “Material Text Cultures. Materiality and Presence of Writing in Non-Typographic Societies”, which is funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG). The “International Academic Forum Heidelberg” (IWH) kindly accepted our conference in its programme and hosted us in its wonderful location, helping with all kind of practical details. Jens-Arne Dickmann, Kai Trampedach, Stephan Westphalen and Christian Witschel, who gave us the opportunity to work on our projects in the first place, encouraged us to take the organization of this conference into our own hands. They have supported us in many different ways. On this occasion, we would like to thank them especially for chairing the sessions along with our two external chairs, Ruth Bielfeldt and Tonio Hölscher.

On the long road leading to the completion of this collection of articles, we have profited from the help of many people. The participants to the conference contributed with lively discussion and constructive criticism to development of the ideas contained in this book. Many thanks are due to Andrew Redwood, Alexander Starre and James Thorne for their revision of the English articles, to Sandy Hämmerle for the translation of the introduction in English and to Karl Heiner Dahm, Evelien Roels and Felix Schulte for their help with the revision of the German articles and of the bibliographic entries.

We also like to thank all museums, institutions and individuals who very kindly granted us permission to reproduce images in this volume.

Finally, we wish to thank the editors of MTK series for agreeing to publish this volume and for giving us valuable advice and, last but not least, Jessica Dreschert, Christian Vater and Julia Weber for their patience, advice and technical support.
