

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

1 Introduction — 1

- 1.1 Audiovisual Figurativity as Product and as Process — 2
- 1.2 Audiovisual Figurativity as Construction of Meaning — 7
- 1.3 Audiovisual Figurativity as Embodied Experience — 12
- 1.4 Objective, Scope, and Structure of the Book — 17

2 The State of Research on Campaign Commercials and Figurativity — 23

- 2.1 Campaign Commercials as Simplistic and Emotionalizing Canvassing — 24
- 2.2 Political Metaphor as Pervasive and Persuasive Tool — 36
- 2.3 The Dynamic Perspective: Active Spectators and Varieties of Audiovisual Figurativity — 46

3 Cognitive-Linguistic Perspectives on Figurativity — 48

- 3.1 Materialized Conceptualization: Figurativity and Multimodality — 51
- 3.2 Enactive Conceptualization: Figurativity and Situatedness — 56
- 3.3 Highlighted Meaning: Activation of Figurativity — 61
- 3.4 Experiential Grounds: Figurativity and Embodiment — 67
- 3.5 Conclusion — 73

4 Film-Theoretical Perspectives on Figurativity — 75

- 4.1 Figuration and Illocution: Figurativity and the Film Code — 76
- 4.2 Artistry and Cognitive Principle: Figurativity and Message Deciphering — 80
- 4.3 Intellectual Shock and Affective Fusion: Figurativity and Viewers' Participation — 86
- 4.4 Double Vision and Cinematic Expressivity: Figurativity and Embodied Experience — 91
- 4.5 Conclusion — 96

5 Implications of a Dynamic Approach to Audiovisual Figurativity — 98

- 5.1 Temporal Dynamics of Audiovisual Figurativity — 99
- 5.2 Attentional Dynamics of Audiovisual Figurativity — 104
- 5.3 Experiential Dynamics of Audiovisual Figurativity — 110
- 5.4 Variant Forms of Audiovisual Figurativity — 115

|          |                                                                                                         |
|----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 6 | Angela Merkel, a Sovereign With Civil Roots — 121                                                |
| 6.1      | The Image of a Monarch: Angela Merkel as Political Message — 122                                 |
| 6.2      | ‘I Am You’: Angela Merkel as Representative of the German People — 126                           |
| 6.3      | The Experience of Gravititas: Angela Merkel as Center of Power — 135                             |
| 6.4      | “We Have the Power”: Angela Merkel and a Sense of Commonality — 143                              |
| 6.5      | Conclusion: Metaphor and Metonymy as Interrelated Meaning-Making Processes — 146                 |
| 7 | Donald Tusk, a Leading Builder Under Pressure — 148                                              |
| 7.1      | Highlighting an Ongoing Process: “Poland Under Construction” — 150                               |
| 7.2      | An Unfolding Construction Scenario: Donald Tusk as Leading Builder of a Future Poland — 153      |
| 7.3      | Feeling the Workload: Donald Tusk as Being Overwhelmed with Duties — 162                         |
| 7.4      | The Pressure of Premiership: Donald Tusk and a Message of Apology — 166                          |
| 7.5      | Conclusion: The Interplay of Language and Audiovisual Staging as Rhetorical Design — 169         |
| 8 | Jarosław Kaczyński and Frank-Walter Steinmeier: A Door Opener and a Sober Problem Solution — 172 |
| 8.1      | Two Challengers, Different Foci: Self-Promotion as Opposition and as Governing Party — 173       |
| 8.2      | Jarosław Kaczyński: Opening Doors and Conquering Hindrances — 179                                |
| 8.3      | Frank-Walter Steinmeier: Giving a Realistic Answer to Existential Questions — 186                |
| 8.4      | Similarities and Differences Among Challenger and Incumbent Images — 195                         |
| 8.5      | Conclusion: The Intertwining of Language and Audiovisual Staging as Qualitative Criterion — 200  |
| 9 | Conclusion and Prospects — 202                                                                   |
| 9.1      | Variations of Audiovisual Figurative Meaning-Making — 203                                        |
| 9.2      | Campaign Commercials as Political Symbolizations — 212                                           |
| 9.3      | Reframing Persuasion Towards Meaning-Making and Understanding — 217                              |

Bibliography — 223

Audiovisual Sources — 241

List of Figures — 242

Name Index — 243

Subject Index — 245

