

Contents

Patrick Baker, Johannes Helmrath, and Craig Kallendorf

Introduction — 1

Lutz Bergemann, Martin Dönike, Albert Schirrmeister, Georg Toepper, Marco Walter, and Julia Weitbrecht (edited and translated by Patrick Baker)

Transformation: A Concept for the Study of Cultural Change* — 9

Giancarlo Abbamonte

The Transformation of Attitudes towards Ancient Latin Authors and the Legacy of Lorenzo Valla — 27

Federica Ciccolella

The Greek Renaissance: Transfer, Allelopoiesis, or Both? — 45

Peter Mack

How Did Renaissance Rhetoric Transform the Classical Tradition? — 59

Johannes Helmrath (translated by Patrick Baker)

Political-Assembly Speeches, German Diets, and Aeneas Sylvius Piccolomini — 71

James Hankins

The Virtue Politics of the Italian Humanists — 95

Roland Béhar

“Haec Domus Omnium Triumphorum”: Petrarch and the Humanist Transformation of the Ancient Triumph — 115

Craig Kallendorf

Tradition, Reception, Transformation: Allelopoiesis and the Creation of the Humanist Virgil — 133

Jill Kraye

Renaissance Humanism and the Transformations of Ancient Philosophy — 149

Ada Palmer

The Effects of Authorial Strategies for Transforming Antiquity on the Place of the Renaissance in the Current Philosophical Canon — 163

Contributors — 195

Index — 199