

Contents

Álvaro Garrido and David J. Starkey

Introduction — 1

Jesús Giráldez Rivero

1 The Modernization of Spanish Fishing: The Case of Galicia, 1880–1936 — 11

Inês Amorim

2 The Social Dilemmas of the Portuguese Sardine: Overfishing, Scientific Knowledge, and Local Communities in the Late Nineteenth Century — 29

Frits Looimeijer

3 Between Brussels and the Biologists: The Roots of the Dutch Overfishing Issue — 49

Robb Robinson

4 Early Lessons on Overfishing from the British Isles — 69

Chris Reid

5 Underutilization, Undersupply, and Overfishing in the Herring Industry 1930–1980: A Case Study in the Evolution of Britain’s Productivist Fisheries Policy — 87

Petter Holm and Bjørn-Petter Finstad

6 April 18, 1989: The Acceptance of Overfishing in Norway — 109

Fernando González Laxe

7 The European Common Fisheries Policy: An Economic Approach to Overfishing Solutions — 129

Gonçalo Carvalho

8 Towards Ending Overfishing in the European Atlantic: The Role of Environmental Organizations — 147

Rod Cappell and Fiona Nimmo

9 Sustainable European Fisheries: Are We There Yet? — 161

Álvaro Garrido and David J. Starkey

10 A Utopia Under Construction — 181

List of Abbreviations — 189

Contributors — 191

Index — 195