This book is a revised version of my dissertation submitted at the University of Freiburg in 2017. It would have been inconceivable without the help and encouragement of people too numerous to do justice to all. Still, first and foremost I want to thank my supervisor Bernd Kortmann for his continued faith and support, his helpful feedback, and for introducing me to the world of linguistics. Uncounted hours were spent at the Lehrstuhl Kortmann, and through all this time, Melitta Cocan has been a stronghold of sanity. Warmest thanks go to my long time colleagues and partners in times good and demanding, providing intense discussion, valuable feedback, or much needed distraction over a coffee or lunch. For polishing the final draft, Elizabeth Closs Traugott was an immense and ever reliable help.

I am more grateful than I can express for the unwavering support I received from my friends and family, who believed in me when I couldn't. Without their help in finding my way, and especially the most loving and reliable childcare, this dissertation could not have been written. Special thanks go to my sister Vanessa for hosting me during a writing binge, and for her diligent and just in time proof-reading. All remaining errors are mine and mine alone.
