

Acknowledgements

Many people have helped to bring this project to its fruition, some by offering their most welcomed and wise counsel, others by contributing their profound insights and assisting me with their support. All of them have already been named and thanked in the expanded Hebrew version of the original publication of this book (Carmel Press, 2018) and are still most heartedly appreciated for their help. Here I would like to specifically thank those who have assisted me in the process of editing, translating and generally making possible this English edition for publication.

First and foremost, to Prof. Vivian Liska, the editor of the book series “Perspectives on Jewish Texts and Contexts” (De Gruyter, Berlin); Jonathan Nadav, (CEO of the Magnes Press); The ISF Grant for Book Publications; and the referees of the Gorgias Press competition who kindly decided to award me the “Peraš Gorgias” for the year 2019 in the category of a book in Jewish Thought.

In addition, I would like to express my warm gratitude to: Eduard Levin, Daniel Price, Iris Felix, Elizabet Michel, Myrna Milun, Gene Matanky, Levi Morrow, Sara-Tova Brody, Levana Chajes; as well as to my colleagues at the department of Jewish thought at Haifa University; at the Shalom Hartman Institute in Jerusalem; and at the TAICP- the Tel-Aviv Institute for Contemporary Psychoanalysis.

Finally, I want to thank from the depths of my heart my teachers, friends and students for the vital and meaningful conversations we have had regarding the notion of Birth and its centrality in the Jewish myth, as well as in the existential flow of our lives.

The book is dedicated to Asi and our children: Hallel, Talya, Evyatar, Roi, who teach me everyday the mysteries of love, re-birth and growth.
