

Contents

On the Series — V

Acknowledgements — XI

Abstract — XIII

Mapping Modern Mahayana — 1

Following Fo Guang Shan — 7

The Field Sites: Hsi Lai, Nan Hua, Da Jue — 11

The Many Transnationalisms of Renjian Buddhism — 21

Buddhist Border-Crossings during the Age of Colonial Modernity — 23

Shifting the Centre of Modern Chinese Mahayana — 33

The Globalization Project of Fo Guang Shan — 35

Migrating Bodhisattvas and Fo Guang Shan Religious Mobility — 44

Layers of Ethnic Chinese Migration — 47

Manoeuvring Diasporic Diversity — 53

Chineseness Globalized — 63

Spaces of Buddhist Leisure — 64

Deterritorializing Nationalized Tradition — 72

The Move to the Mainland — 76

Generating Global Pure Lands — 81

Global Outposts of Renjian Buddhist Education — 82

Cosmopolitan Goodness — 90

Purifying the Multitude — 98

The Religious Ecology of Fo Guang Shan — 99

Modernist Buddhist Communalism and its Western Other — 104

Fo Guang Shan and Global China as a Spatial Order — 117

Multiple Modern Buddhist Religiosities in the Age of Global Modernity — 121

The Future of Fo Guang Shan's Transnationalism — 130

List of Abbreviations — 133

List of Figures — 135

Bibliography — 137

Index — 147