

Acknowledgements

The editors wish to acknowledge with gratitude the support and contribution of individuals and institutions that have made this publication a reality. First, we would like to give special recognition to our colleague Job Odhiambo Ochieng and entire team at Sustainable Travel & Tourism Agenda – (STTA) for their unwavering support and patience as we dedicated more time to this book.

Our gratitude also goes the independent peer reviewers, who responded promptly to our invitation to review the chapters, managing to keep deadlines. We are indebted to Kwakye Donkor of Africa Tourism Partners and Professor Bernard Kitheka of Missouri State University for referrals to reviewers. You reminded us of the meaning of Ubuntu. We appreciate Dr George Gona for much guidance.

We would also like to acknowledge the 17 universities in Kenya with whom we have organized monthly inter-university dialogues on sustainable tourism in Africa since 2017. We have learnt much from our interaction with the students in this program, or STTA Young Change Makers, as we courageously refer to them. They have challenged us to research and remain informed of issues around sustainable tourism in Africa.

Last but not least we acknowledge all the contributors, without whom this publication would not have been possible.

To our families, thank you for cheering us on and believing with us that stories of sustainability are stories of possibilities.

UBUNTU

