

Table of Contents

Introduction — 1

John J. Collins

Where Should We Look for the Roots of Jewish Apocalypticism? — 5

Luca Arcari

Apocalyptic Literature and Experiences of Contact with the Other-World in Second Temple Judaism and Early Christianity — 27

Lorenzo DiTommaso

Time and History in Ancient Jewish and Christian Apocalyptic Writings — 53

Jörg Frey

Apocalyptic Writings in Qumran and the Community's Idea of History — 89

Matthias Henze

This Age and the Age to Come in 2 Baruch — 117

Armand Puig i Tàrrach

Jesus and Jewish Apocalyptic — 141

Adela Yarbro Collins

Time and History: The Use of the Past and the Present in the Book of Revelation — 187

Joseph Verheyden

Dreams, Visions and the World-to-Come according to the Shepherd of Hermas — 215

Jens Schröter

Ezra and his Visions: From Jewish Apocalypse to Medieval Tour of Hell — 235

Olivia Stewart Lester

Views of the World to Come in the Jewish-Christian Sibylline Oracles — 261

Marcos Aceituno Donoso

Defying the Divine: Jannes and Jambres in Apocalyptic Perspective — 283

Michael Sommer

Between Jewish and Egyptian Thinking: The Apocalypse of Sophonias as a Bridge between Two Worlds? — 319

Dylan M. Burns

From the ‘Gnostic Dialogues’ to the ‘Apostolic Memoirs’: Literary and Historical Settings of the Nag Hammadi Apocalypses — 343

Jean-Daniel Dubois

What is ‘Gnostic’ within Gnostic Apocalypses? — 385

Thomas J. Kraus

Being in corpore/carne and extra corpus: some interrelations within the Apocalypsis Pauli/Visio Pauli — 411

Tobias Nicklas

From Historical Apocalypses to Apocalyptic History: Late Antique Historians and Apocalyptic Writings — 433

Stephen J. Shoemaker

Qur’anic Eschatology in its Biblical and Late Ancient Matrix — 461

Lourdes García Ureña

The Book of Revelation and Visual Culture — 487

List of Contributors — 505

Index of Ancient Sources — 507

Index of Modern Authors — 537

Index of Subjects — 545