

Contents

Preface — XI

Acknowledgments — XIII

Sources — XV

Introduction — 1

Part I Current State

1 The Enduring Presence of Our Pre-Critical Past — 11

Part II Critical Shift

2 Classification Matters or, Why You Should Care About Scholarship on the Category Religion — 63

3 Shifting From Experience to the Discourse on Experience — 76

4 “There’s No Original in This Business” — 96

5 What Happens After the Deconstruction? — 111

Part III Institutional Implications

6 Theses on Creating Successful Religion Programs in an Anti-Humanities Age — 119

7 Growth, Identity, and Branding: An Interview with Religious Studies News — 123

8 Reinventing the Study of Religion in Alabama: An Overview — 138

9 Learning to Code: Digital Pebbles and Institutional Ripples — 148

10 On Making a Shift in the Study of Religion — 167

Afterword: Five Examples — 189

Index — 204