

Contents

Introduction — 1

Part I: Diodoros and His Work

1 Diodoros of Agyrion — 7

2 The Bibliothēke — 9

- 2.1 Diodoros' Conception of History — 9
- 2.2 Diodoros' Historical Method — 11
 - 2.2.1 Diodoros and His Sources — 12
 - 2.2.2 The Organisation of the Material — 26
 - 2.2.3 Selection and Storyline — 27
 - 2.2.4 The Elaboration of the Material — 39
- 2.3 Language and Style — 42
- 2.4 The Text of Book XIX — 51

3 The Problem of the Sources — 58

- 3.1 The Lost Primary Authors — 59
 - 3.1.1 Hieronymos of Kardia — 59
 - 3.1.2 Douris of Samos — 64
 - 3.1.3 Diyllos of Athens — 66
 - 3.1.4 Hekataios of Abdera — 66
- 3.2 Diodoros' Sources for the History of the Diadochoi — 69
 - 3.2.1 Methodological Issues — 69
 - 3.2.2 The Evidence of the Fragments — 71
 - 3.2.3 Indirect Evidence — 77

4 The Chronology of the Years 317–311 — 91

Part II: Commentary

- § 2.1 Chronographic Formula for the Year 317/6 — 109
- § 11 Olympias' Return, the Deaths of Arrhidaios and Eurydike, and Olympias' Revenge on the Antipatrids for the Death of Alexander — 109

§ 12–13	Eumenes in Babylonia and the Crossing of the Tigris — 131
§ 14	Eumenes' Alliance with the Governors and Generals from the Upper Satrapies — 151
§ 15	The Power Struggle of the Commanders of the Satrapal Alliance and the Alexander Tent — 167
§ 16	The End of the Perdikkan Captives — 176
§ 17–19	Antigonos' Crossing into the Upper Satrapies and the First Skirmishing — 183
§ 20	Rest, Recovery and Replenishment in Media — 202
§ 21–24	The Struggle for Power in the Satrapal Coalition Surfaces Again — 204
§ 25–26	The Prelude to the Battle of Paraitakene — 223
§ 27–31	The Battle of Paraitakene — 231
§ 32	The Aftermath of the Battle — 259
§ 33–34	Keteus' Widows Compete to Join Their Husband in Death — 260
§ 35–36	Kassandros' Return to Macedonia and the Struggle against Polyperchon and Olympias — 269
§ 37–39	The Build Up to the Battle of Gabiene — 281
§ 40–43	The Battle of Gabiene — 290
§ 44	The Aftermath of the Battle — 306
§ 45	The Flood of Rhodes — 314
§ 46–48	The Establishment of Antigonos' Supremacy in Asia — 319
§ 49–51	The Defeat and Death of Olympias — 333
§ 52–54	The Establishment of Kassandros' Power in Europe — 344
§ 55–57	Seleukos' Flight and the Coalition against Antigonos — 367
§ 58–60	Antigonos' Preparations for the War and the Siege of Tyre — 391
§ 61	Antigonos' Propagandistic Proclamation at Tyre — 401
§ 62	The Reaction of Ptolemaios — 407
§ 63–64	The First Phase of the War in Europe and the Aegean — 414
§ 66–69	The Second Year of the War — 421
§ 73–75	The Third Year of the War — 437
§ 77–78	Polemaios in Greece — 455
§ 79	Ptolemaios' Interventions in Kyrene and Cyprus, and the Raids on the Syrian and Kilikian Coasts — 466
§ 80–84	The Battle of Gaza — 474
§ 85–86	The Aftermath of the Battle — 488
§ 87	Telesphoros' Revolt in the Peloponnese — 499
§ 88–89	Kassandros' Operations in Epeiros and Illyria — 501

§ 90–92	Seleukos' Return to Babylon —	504
§ 93	Ptolemaios' Loss of Syria —	520
§ 94–100.2	The Antigonid Campaigns against the Nabataians —	523
§ 100.3–7	Demetrios' Expedition in Babylonia —	539
§ 105.1–4	The Peace of the Dynasts and the Deaths of Alexander IV and Rhoxane —	543

Abbreviations —	550
------------------------	------------

Bibliography —	552
-----------------------	------------

Appendix: Textual Variants —	618
-------------------------------------	------------

Index Graecitatis —	620
----------------------------	------------

