Thank you to my readers and the students whose thoughts and contributions inspired the development of this book. Thank you to the De Gruyter publishing house and in particular Dr. Stefan Giesen for their trust and support in the realization of this book. I thank Uta Oettel for designing the cover. I thank the editor, Lucy Jarman, who was always patient, friendly and quick to respond to my many questions that arose during the writing process. Many thanks to Mark Petrie who copy-edited the work. I would like to thank the librarians at my university, the Frankfurt University of Applied Sciences, for their tireless support in providing and locating the sources of knowledge that I sought.
