

Contents

Introduction

Manuela du Bois-Reymond, René Diekstra, Klaus Hurrelmann and Els Peters v

Part I Status Transitions of Dutch Adolescents and the Role of Parents

1. The Modernization of the Youth Phase. Educational, Professional and Family Careers of Dutch Youth in the Nineties
Els Peters 3
2. Courtship and Sexuality in the Youth Phase
Janita Ravesloot 41
3. The Role of Parents in the Transition Period of Young People
Manuela du Bois-Reymond 73

Part II Modernisation of Childhood in East and West Germany and The Netherlands

4. The Impact of Social and Cultural Modernisation on the Everyday Lives of Children. Theoretical and Methodological Framework and First Results of an Inter-cultural Project
Peter Büchner 105
5. The Modern Family as a Negotiating Household. Parent-Child relations in Western and Eastern Germany and in the Netherlands
Manuela du Bois-Reymond 127
6. Biographisation in Modern Childhood
Heinz-Hermann Krüger and Jutta Ecarius 161

Part III Coping Strategies of Dutch and German Adolescents in Social Context

7. Internal and External Coping in Adolescence. Psychosomatic Complaints, Aggressive Behaviour, and the Consumption of Legal and Illegal Drugs
Petra Kolip and Klaus Hurrelmann 183
8. Demands for Help. Gender Differences in Informal and Medical Help-Seeking
Wolfgang Settertobulte 197

9. Adolescents' Health Problems and Utilization of Medical and Psychosocial Care Services in East and West Germany. Findings of a Study Based on Interviews of Medical, Psychological and Educational Experts Christian Palentien and Klaus Hurrelmann	209
10. Emotional Problems in Adolescence Maja Deković and Wim Meeus	225
11. Inter-ethnic Violence: A Male Youth Problem? Wilma Vollebergh	243
12. Youth Under Threat Nadia Garnefski and René F.W. Diekstra	257
 Part IV Youth Information in the Netherlands. A New Educational Concept
13. Youth Information, Education and the Psychosocial Functioning of Adolescents. An Approach Using Both Socialisation- and Coping-theory Frans J. van der Linden	289
14. The Demand for Youth Information. Results of a national survey among adolescents and young adults in The Netherlands Harry Guit and Frans J. van der Linden	305
References	329