

Acknowledgments

The realization of this book would not have been possible without the support of several people and institutions. We want to express our deepest gratitude to those who have contributed to the completion of this book.

We express our profound gratitude to the German Research Foundation and the LOEWE research cluster: Minority Studies, Language and Identity at the Goethe University Frankfurt for their generous funding of the workshop on “Minorities in the Zagros – Language & Identity,” held on the 19th and 20th of September 2022 at the Goethe University of Frankfurt. Our special thanks are extended to Thomas Jügel from the University of Bochum, whose pivotal role in conceptualizing and organizing the workshop was invaluable. The success of this workshop and the rich discussions that followed have been instrumental in bringing this edited volume to fruition.

We extend our special thanks to de Gruyter for the acceptance of our proposal and the inclusion of our work in the esteemed series “Trends in Linguistics. Documentation [TiLDOC].”

We express our profound gratitude to anonymous reviewers whose insightful evaluation, guidance, support, and expertise were invaluable throughout the evaluation process.

We extend our heartfelt thanks to all the authors for their valuable contributions, articles, and constructive cooperation throughout the reviewing and editing process.

We are indebted to all the participants, researchers, and scholars whose discussions during the workshop and their contributions have informed and inspired us. This book would not have been possible without our academic community’s collective knowledge and efforts.
