

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

Editorial Board — VI

Introduction

Marco Serino, Diego Elia and Eleni Hasaki

- 1 The A.G.A.T.H.O.C.L.E.S. Project and Beyond: Archaeology of Gesture and Material Consciousness in Ceramic Studies — 3

Section I: The Shapes of Clay: Manufacturing and Local Traditions

Gudrun Klebinder-Gauß

- 2 What Makes Aeginetan Cooking Pots So Special? Technological Choices in Ancient Aegina's Pottery Production — 13

Kathleen M. Lynch

- 3 Production Relationships between Attic Black-glazed and Figured Pottery — 25

Francesca Silvestrelli

- 4 Potters in South Italian Red-Figured Workshops: An Overview — 35

Valeria Meirano

- 5 Clay Crafting, Hand Modeling: A Coroplastic Perspective. Case-Studies from Sicily and Magna Graecia — 49

Dario Giuliano

- 6 The Manufacture of "Thickened-edge" Roof Tiles between Unintentional Traces and Intentional Marks: The Case of the Hellenistic-Roman Temple in Agrigento — 69

Alessandra De Natale, Laura Di Siena, Giovanni Murro and Sine Grove Saxkjær

- 7 Teanum Ware Pottery from Loc. Cappella Marcella (Castrocielo, Frosinone) — 79

Section II: Populating the Ancient Pottery Industry

Eleni Hasaki

- 8 Timing Euxitheos and Euphronios: Energetics and the Scale of Production in the Athenian Potters' Quarters — 91

Philip Sapirstein

- 9 Reconstructing the Scale of Athenian Vase-Painting Workshops — 111

Linda Adorno

- 10 Potters' Tools at the Kerameikos of Selinous — 125

Laetitia Cavassa, Guilhem Chapelin, Alberto De Bonis, Chiara Germinario, Celestino Grifa,
Bastien Lemaire, Emilie Mannocci, Fabrice Paul and Marie Pawlowicz

11 Pottery Production in Pompeii, Step by Step: From Excavations to Experimental Archaeology — 133

Ludovica Xavier de Silva

12 Republican Kilns at Pollentia-Urbs Salvia: An Interdisciplinary Approach to the Study of a Local Ceramic Production — 147

Section III: Workshop Recipes and Craft Production Systems: Technologies Magnified

Diego Elia, Patrizia Davit, Alessandro Re and Monica Gulmini

13 Magnific Magnification at Locri Epizephyrii: An Insight into the Surface of Western Red-figured Vases — 157

Annarosa Mangone, Lorena Carla Giannossa, Fabrizio Mastrorocco and Italo Maria Muntoni

14 Examining the Red and Black Surfaces of Apulian Red-figured Pottery: Raw Materials and Technological Features — 173

Mattia D'Acri

15 Reconstructing Pottery Production in Archaic Rome and Latium: Integrating Traditional Approach and Archaeometry — 183

Elisa Ercolin, Diego Elia, Patrizia Davit and Monica Gulmini

16 Black-glazed Pottery from Locri Epizephyrii: New Evidence from the Technological Study of the Local Hellenistic Production — 193

Dario Giuliano, Giuseppe Montana and Elisa Chiara Portale

17 Roof Tiles with the ΣΩΣΗΝΟΣ Stamp: Calabrian Production in Sicily — 199

Gloria Olcese, Andrea Razza and Domenico Michele Surace

18 Preliminary Observations on the Interdisciplinary Project of Roman Amphorae from the Territory of Ostia — 207

Barbara Borgers and Francesca Diosono

19 A True Melting Pot: The Production of Cooking Ware at Fregellae, Southern Lazio (Italy), between the 4th and the 2nd Centuries B.C. — 213

Section IV: From Invisible to Visible: Artisanal Gestures, Ontologies, and Ceramic Networks

Marco Serino

20 From Micro to Macro and Vice Versa: Technology Studies and Network Analysis on Red-figured Vase Production between Sicily and Campania — 223

Elisa Chiara Portale and Gabriella Chirco

21 The Craft of Centuripe Vases: Techniques, Colors, Patterns — 241

Tyler Jo Smith, Ethan Gruber and Nicholas A. Harokopos

22 Kerameikos.org and Digital Accessibility for Ancient Greek Vases — 255

Verena Gassner

23 New Perspectives in the Study of Western Greek Amphorae — 269

Allard W. Mees

24 Economic Principles in the Roman Economy: Modelling Mass Ceramic Production and Trade — 285

Maiwenn Tonna

25 Looking for the Lost Decoration of an Apulian Volute Krater by the Painter of Sèvres 1 — 303

Section V: Craftspeople's Mobility and Knowledge Transfer: Distribution and Statistics

Xenia Charalambidou

26 Technology Transfer and Mobility During the Period of Greek Migrations to Italy (8th to 6th Centuries B.C.): Insights from Coarse ware Pottery — 313

Adrien Delahaye

27 Regional Markets and Distribution Patterns of Laconian Pottery in Crete and Beyond: The Aeginetan Hypothesis (6th–5th Centuries B.C.) — 327

Mark Stansbury-O'Donnell

28 Consumers and Vases in Early South Italian Vase-Painting — 347

Elisabetta Di Virgilio

29 Hybridity and Exchange Models in Campania: The Case of Ionian Cups from Ancient Cumae — 357

Antoine Attout

30 East Greek Inspirations on Attic Black-figured Pottery: The Implications for Clients and Trade Networks — 365

Epilogue

Eleni Hasaki, Marco Serino and Diego Elia

31 Greek and Roman Ceramic Producers: Operational Knowledge and Networked Mobilities — 373

List of Contributors — 381

