

Contents

Preface — VII

Acknowledgements — IX

List of Figures — XV

1 Towards a Global History of Labour — 1

- 1.1 Labour and Non-work in Global History — 1
- 1.2 Current State of Research — 15
- 1.3 ‘Double Geographies’, Self-Narratives and the Colonial Archive(s) — 29
- 1.4 Sources — 36
- 1.5 Outline — 40

2 Global Labour History in the Indian Ocean — 44

- 2.1 From the History of the Indian Ocean to a History in the Indian Ocean — 44
- 2.2 The Indian Ocean, East Africa and the History of (Un-)free Labour — 46
- 2.3 East Africa and German Weltpolitik — 54
- 2.4 German Colonial Policies in the Indian Ocean — 58

3 The Central Railway — 65

- 3.1 From Laissez Faire to Obscure Regulations — 65
 - 3.1.1 Supervising a Colonial Railway — 65
 - 3.1.2 From Conflicts to Concealment? — 73
- 3.2 Sub-contractors at the Central Railway — 82
 - 3.2.1 Outsourcing Responsibilities — 82
 - 3.2.2 Sub-contractors, Sub-sub-contractors and Labour Recruiters — 89
- 3.3 Entangling Employments: (South-East) European Railway Sub-contractors — 97
 - 3.3.1 The Greeks in (East) Africa — 97
 - 3.3.2 From Bagdad to Dar es Salaam: Engineers and Greek Sub-contractors — 101
 - 3.3.3 Blurring National Borders: Diverse European Sub-contractor Teams — 105
 - 3.3.4 Transcending Nationalities at the Central Railway: The Cases of John Zavellas and Clement Gillman — 107

3.3.5	Struggling Along the Railroad: Making a Living as a Railway Sub-contractor — 111
3.4	White Subaltern Railway Men and Precarious Whites — 113
3.4.1	White Subalterns Versus Precarious Whites — 113
3.4.2	Discourses Against South(-East) European Sub-contractors — 117
3.5	“All Treat the Workers Equally Bad”: (South-East) European Sub-contractors and the African Workforce — 122
3.5.1	The Complaint of the German Sub-contractor Berger — 122
3.5.2	Large-Scale Investigations and an (Un-)surprising Outcome — 124
3.6	Economies of Skill? Craftsmen and Office Clerks at the Central Railway — 132
3.6.1	From Chinese ‘Coolies’ to Indian (Indentured) Labour — 132
3.6.2	Discourses About Indian Labour and Indian Labour Protest — 148
3.7	(Un-)wanted Workers: Contesting Skilled African Labour at the Central Railway — 152
3.7.1	Moravians Fighting Railway Modernity? Between Colonial Cooperation and Competition — 152
3.7.2	(Un-)wanted Workers at the Central Railway — 164
3.7.3	Moravian Missionary Stations and Labour Recruiters: Refuge or Training Ground? — 170
3.8	Labour and Everyday Life at the Central Railway’s Construction Sites — 174
3.8.1	The Colonial Order of a Construction Camp — 174
3.8.2	Labour and Coercion at the Construction Sites — 179
3.8.3	Labour and Everyday Life at the Construction Camps — 186
3.9	Female Labour and Sex Work — 194
3.9.1	Female Labour — 194
3.9.2	Sex(,) Work and Sexualised Violence — 199
4	“The Machine” Defeats an Engine: The Otto Plantation in Kilossa — 206
4.1	There Is Something Rotten in the State of the ‘Empire of Cotton’ — 206
4.2	Cotton Between Alabama, Africa, India and Unterboihingen — 210
4.3	German Colonial State Dignitaries and Their Admiration for US Cotton Policies — 213
4.4	The Otto Company: From Unterboihingen via America to East Africa — 219

- 4.4.1 From Conversion to Plantation and Beyond: The Kaundinya Family and the Otto Company — 225
- 4.4.2 Otto's Pietist Textile Networks and Ranga Kaundinya's Employment in Kilossa — 231
- 4.5 Managing a Plantation in a German Colony — 235
- 4.6 Venture Capital, Modern Technology and Comprehensive Failure — 242
- 4.7 Puffing Engines: The Steam Ploughs' Odyssey to Kilossa — 247
- 4.8 White Subalterns, Precarious Whites and African Labour at the Cotton Plantation — 254
- 4.8.1 The Beginnings of Labour in Kilossa — 254
- 4.8.2 Obtaining and Organising the 'Living Machine' — 259
- 4.9 Contesting Labour at the Workers' Camp — 264
- 4.9.1 The Labour Camp in Kilossa — 264
- 4.9.2 Skilled Plantation Labour Wanted: The Legal Case Against Walter Grund — 270
- 4.9.3 Precarious White Labour in Kilossa and Colonial East Africa — 275
- 5 Bones of Contention? The Tendaguru Expedition — 280
- 5.1 'Dinomania' and Palaeontological Excavations Around 1900 — 280
- 5.2 Discovering Bones in the War-Ridden Area of Lindi — 289
- 5.3 Labour and the Potential Workforce of the Tendaguru Expedition in the Lindi District — 292
- 5.4 The Dependency on East African Expertise — 300
- 5.4.1 No Minerals but Dinosaurs: East African Discoveries — 300
- 5.4.2 East African Overseers and Preparators — 306
- 5.5 'We Could Have Employed Many More': Labour and Command at the Tendaguru — 314
- 5.5.1 Residing on the Tendaguru: A Colonial City Upon a Hill? — 314
- 5.5.2 Boys' Two Men: Personal Servants at the Heart of the Tendaguru — 319
- 5.6 Labour, Command and the Daily Life of the Workers — 329
- 5.6.1 Female Labour — 329
- 5.6.2 Male Workers at the Tendaguru: The Popularity of Excavation Works — 331
- 5.6.3 Work Routine at the Tendaguru — 339
- 5.6.4 Policies of Labour Recruitment at the Tendaguru — 342

6 Conclusion and Outlook — 346

6.1 Conclusion — 346

6.2 Outlook — 356

List of Works Cited — 363

Index — 399