This is less of a textbook and more of a discussion around the value and purpose of design, innovation and human advancement. It's been made possible by many conversations with the creative, inspirational and knowledgeable people I'm lucky to know, many of whom have contributed to this book. I would like to thank the team and all the students of the RCA Service Design course and tutors Judah Armani, Carolyn Runcie, Nick de Leon, Nicolas Reboledo, John Makepeace, Richard Atkinson, Qian Sun, Andrea Edmunds, Hanna Kops, David Eveleigh, Alex Hill and graduate Allison Bajet, who told me to write this book.

I am grateful for the time given me by Tom Hardy, Ben Terret, Andrea Siodmok, Sarah Drummond, Sanjay Rain, Sophie Thomas, Camilla Buchannan, Stephen Bennet, Rama Gheerawo, Lin Hu, Sanjay Khana, J. Paul Neely, Alex Barclay, Sarah Corney, Geoff Mulgan, Justin Huang, Mark Wheelhouse and Robert Chatley, Aoran Sun and, of course, John Bird.

Steve Hardman at De Gruyter was instrumental in commissioning this book before moving on to look after his wife Samantha Whitaker. Please do all you can to support their work with the MND Association and buy her poetry book Standing Tall. Thank you to Jaya Dalal for her support after stepping into the role.

I'm incredibly grateful for the patience and support of my wife, Janis.
