

Acknowledgements

Over several years, the results on these pages have been sculpted and shaped by the ideas and critiques gifted to me by cherished colleagues and friends. It was a privilege and inspiration to work under the guidance of Prof. Dr. Maren Möhring and Prof. Dr. Matthias Middell at the University of Leipzig.

I am just as indebted to the generous funding and intellectual support that I received over the years in the form of scholarships and structures for feedback from the Rosa Luxemburg Foundation, the Bonn Center for Dependency and Slavery Studies and the Graduate School Global Area Studies at the University of Leipzig. The trust of the people within these bodies not only provided me with the scholarly freedom and critical support that I would wish for any young historian, their generosity provided myself and my family with our primary source of income during those years. I would like to extend a particular thanks to Dr. Jane Angerjäv, Maria Bühner, Prof. Dr. Stephan Conermann, Lena Dallywater, Dr. Antje Dietze, Dr. Mònica Ginés-Blasi, Prof. Dr. Marion Gymnich, Dr. Marcus Hawel, Dr. Martina Keilbach, Dr. Christa Klein, Dr. Josef Köstbauer, Dr. Jennifer Leetsch, Dr. Katja Naumann, Prof. Dr. Karoline Noack, Dr. Steffi Marung, Rohan Dominic Mathews, Dr. Megan Maruschke, Prof. Dr. Ludolf Pelizeaus, Prof. Dr. Christiane Reinecke, Prof. Dr. Pia Wiegminck, Prof. Dr. Micheal Zeuske.

Then there are colleagues who over the years became friends and friends who supported me as colleagues in improving this work. I thank Felix Bittner, Benny Drechsel, Filippo Celuzza, Laura Frey, Dr. Susanna Jorek, Dr. Christa Klein, Dr. Miriam Kohmeier, Valentin Kohlmeier, Anna Lebedeva, Margarita Lerman, P.D. Dr. Barbara Lüthi, Christain Nappert, Pia Marzell, Dr. Robin Möser, Franny Parren, Lea Rugemintwaza, Sina Schindler, Simon Streit, Theresa Szymanowski, Rahmet Yelken, and Anita Zelenika.

A special thanks goes to Isla Weser and Sebastian Weser for their support in transcribing two diplomatic correspondences, which were handwritten in Kurrent, and to a number of my seniors, Dr. Felix Axster, Prof. Dr. Frédéric Barbier, PD Dr. Hans-Joachim Hahn, Prof. Dr. Matthias Middell, PD Dr. Frederik Schulze, Prof. Dr. Jan Süsselbeck, who supported me in locating sources and figuring out their mysteries. I also thank Franny Parren for her support in helping me understand a number of sources written in Dutch. Dr. Katharina Middell too receives my gratitude for her careful copy editing, which helped the book to take its final form.

Finally, words are not enough to thank my pillar and foundation Sebastian Weser, as well as Frank and Viola Weser for being the best grandparents in the world that my kids could have.

Leipzig, 28 December 2024

