

Acknowledgments

We wish to express our profound gratitude to the institutions and individuals whose support and guidance have been pivotal in the completion of this book, “Computer-Aided Drug Design: QSAR, Molecular Docking, Virtual Screening, Homology, and Pharmacophore Modeling.”

We extend our deepest appreciation to the Government College of Pharmacy, Rohru, District Shimla, Himachal Pradesh. The institution’s unwavering commitment to fostering a rigorous academic environment has been instrumental. We are particularly grateful for the access to cutting-edge facilities and the intellectual support provided by the esteemed Director/ Principal Prof. (Dr.) Vivek Kumar Sharma and other faculty members of the institute, which have significantly contributed to the depth and quality of this work.

Our sincere gratitude to the Directorate of Technical Education, Vocational and Industrial Training, Sundernagar, District Mandi, Himachal Pradesh. The Directorate’s dedication to promoting excellence in technical education and vocational training has been a cornerstone of the academic and professional development of the students and faculty members of the Government College of Pharmacy, Rohru. Their support has been crucial in enabling the research and compilation of this comprehensive text.

We are profoundly grateful to Himachal Pradesh Technical University, Hamirpur, Himachal Pradesh. The university’s emphasis on research innovation and academic excellence has provided a fertile ground for our scholarly pursuits. The collaborative environment and the university’s commitment to fostering interdisciplinary research have greatly enriched our work.

We would also like to acknowledge the invaluable contributions of our colleagues, mentors, and students. Their critical insights, constructive feedback, and ongoing support have been indispensable throughout the research and writing process. Their engagement and intellectual curiosity have greatly enhanced the scientific rigor of this book.

Finally, we extend our heartfelt thanks to the family and friends for their unwavering support and understanding. Their encouragement has been a constant source of strength, allowing us to dedicate ourselves fully to this endeavor.

Thank you all for your indispensable contributions and support.
