

Contents

Maps — IX

Figures — XI

On Language — XIII

Preface — XV

1 Introduction — 1

- 1.1 Transformations, Connections, and Representations — 2
- 1.2 A First Glimpse of Kigoma-Ujiji — 6
 - 1.2.1 From Lake to Liemba — 6
 - 1.2.2 Urban Layout — 10
- 1.3 Conceptual Considerations — 13
 - 1.3.1 Kigoma-Ujiji: An Urban History — 15
 - 1.3.2 Global and Liminal: A History of Transformations and Connections — 24
- 1.4 Method and Outline — 34

2 Entering the Town: Representation and Imagination — 40

- 2.1 Visiting Kigoma-Ujiji since the Mid-Nineteenth Century — 41
 - 2.1.1 Expectation — 41
 - 2.1.2 Narration — 45
 - 2.1.3 Destination — 50
 - 2.1.4 Transition — 53
 - 2.1.5 Confrontation — 57
- 2.2 Representation and Perception of Kigoma-Ujiji in Popular Culture — 60
- 2.3 Visiting and Representing Kigoma-Ujiji Today — 66

3 Urbanization on the Move: From Caravan Trade to Urbanity — 68

- 3.1 The Caravan Trade in East and Central Africa — 70
- 3.2 Disorder and New Order in East Central Africa — 72
 - 3.2.1 A European Perspective, or Some Thoughts on Source Criticism — 74
 - 3.2.2 A Global Perspective — 76
 - 3.2.3 A Regional Perspective — 80
 - 3.2.4 Ngwana Ideal — 83

3.3	The Making of Urban Ujiji —	86
3.3.1	The Pangani Triumvirate —	88
3.3.2	Urbanization between Connection and Disconnection —	93
4	Separations and Connections: Colonizing Space —	97
4.1	A Hub for Colonial Conquest and Commerce —	98
4.2	The Re-Alignment of Kigoma-Ujiji under German Rule —	107
4.3	“My Slave Sold all of Kigoma”: The Transition to a Colonial Order —	110
4.3.1	Claiming Land in the Port of Kigoma —	111
4.3.2	Reconstructing African and German Land Claims —	116
4.3.3	Land Tenure and Politics in Bujiji —	120
4.3.4	Two Men, both called Heri? —	123
5	Inland Indian Ocean Port: Extraterritoriality and Pragmatism —	130
5.1	The First World War: Settling European Scores (1914–1921) —	131
5.2	Territorial Ambivalence in the Golden Decade of the Belgian Base —	135
5.3	Formalized Convention, Privatized Concession —	141
5.4	Coda —	148
6	Out of Order: Indirect Rule, Unruliness, and Self-Rule —	149
6.1	Kigoma and Ujiji: A Misfit in the British Colonial Order —	150
6.1.1	The Place and Status of Kigoma in the British Colonial System —	150
6.1.2	Urban Ujiji: Emancipation from Native Administration —	157
6.2	Tanganyika, from Lake to Nation —	174
7	East-West, North-South: Between National, Regional, and International —	180
7.1	Global Ideologies and National Politics —	181
7.1.1	African Socialism —	182
7.1.2	The Neoliberal Age —	186
7.1.3	Multi-Party Elections in a One-Party State? —	188
7.2	Regional Refugees and International Interference —	194
7.2.1	Refugees from Congo and Burundi —	195
7.2.2	International Organizations in the Wake of Refugees —	198
7.3	International Impositions and Local Appropriation —	199

8	Bordering the Lake: Transcending Spatial Orders — 206
8.1	Spatial Orders and a Multiple Borderland — 210
8.2	The African Lake Frontier — 215
8.3	The Frontier of the Caravan Trade Complex — 216
8.4	The Urban Frontier and Proto-colonial Territorialization — 218
8.5	Colonial Territorialization and State Borders — 221
8.5.1	Spatial Categories of Belonging — 224
8.5.2	Giving Meaning — 227
8.6	A Post-Colonial National Border — 229
8.7	Wrapping Up — 231

Conclusion — 233

List of Sources — 237

Index — 259

