

Acknowledgements

The creation of Mind the Gap has been a rewarding journey, one that would not have been possible without the invaluable contributions and support of many individuals and institutions.

Firstly, we would like to express our deepest gratitude to the contributors of this volume. Their academic expertise and dedication have enriched our research and their discussions on border studies have been invaluable.

We are especially thankful to Cahir Healy, the grandson of MP Cahir Healy, for kindly granting us access to his grandfather's account of internment on the Argenta prison ship following the Partition of Ireland. His personal narrative provided us with a unique perspective on history.

Our sincere thanks also go to the Public Records Office of Northern Ireland for their assistance in providing access to essential documents. Their resources and support have been instrumental in the research and development of this book.

Finally, we wish to acknowledge our publishers at De Gruyter; your encouragement and understanding throughout the publication have been vital in bringing this book to fruition.

Thank you all for your help.
