

Contents

Zu dieser Reihe — VII

Zu diesem Band — IX

Acknowledgements — XI

Preface — XIII

I Laying the Foundations

1 Introduction — 3

- 1.1 Humanitas: State of Research — 7
- 1.2 Humanitas: The (Impossible?) Search for a Definition — 15
- 1.3 Studying Humanitas in the Imperial Age — 18
- 1.4 Some Methodological Remarks — 20
- 1.5 Humanitas: Ideological Components and Other Issues — 21
- 1.5.1 Humanus and Homo — 22
- 1.5.2 Greek or Latin Humanitas? — 24
- 1.6 The Origins of Humanitas — 34
- 1.7 Humanitas and Other Value Concepts — 38
- 1.7.1 Clementia — 38
- 1.7.2 Superbia (and Inhumanitas) — 44

2 Humanitas from the Republican Age to that of Domitian — 46

- 2.1 Humanitas before Humanitas: The Debated Case of Terence — 47
- 2.2 The Beginning: The Rhetorica ad Herennium — 50
- 2.3 Cicero and the Heyday of Humanitas — 52
- 2.3.1 The Educational Path of the Pro Archia: From παιδεία to φιλανθρωπία — 53
- 2.3.2 The Pro Archia and the Birth of the Humanities — 61
- 2.4 Other Republican Instances — 62
- 2.5 The Augustan Age: Vitruvius and Livy — 65
- 2.6 Valerius Maximus and the Pairing of Humanitas and Clementia — 66
- 2.7 Seneca: Humanitas, Clementia and Tyranny — 67
- 2.8 The Flavian Age and a Second Nero — 71

- 2.9 Humanitas in the Centuries First BCE–First CE: Final Remarks — 72
- 2.10 From Trajan to Theodosius, from Pliny to Symmachus — 74

II Pagan Humanitas in the Imperial Age

3 A New Apogee of Humanitas in the Trajanic Age: Pliny the Younger, Tacitus and Suetonius — 81

- 3.1 Pliny the Younger: Refounding Imperial Rome in the Name of Humanitas — 83
  - 3.1.1 The Panegyricus — 84
  - 3.1.2 The Letters — 95
  - 3.1.3 Humanus in Pliny the Younger — 112
- 3.2 Tacitus: Is the Absence of Humanitas a Photographic Negative? — 115
  - 3.2.1 The Agricola — 117
  - 3.2.2 The Germania — 125
  - 3.2.3 Humanus in Tacitus — 126
- 3.3 Suetonius: Humanitas as a Paradox in the Vita Tiberii — 127
  - 3.3.1 Humanus in Suetonius — 132
- 3.4 Conclusion — 132

4 Trials and Educational Programmes: The Specialisation(s) of Humanitas in the Antonine Age — 134

- 4.1 Humanitas in the Courtroom: Apuleius — 137
  - 4.1.1 The Apologia — 138
  - 4.1.2 The Metamorphoses — 147
  - 4.1.3 The De Platone et eius dogmate — 156
- 4.2 Humanitas at the Core of Aulus Gellius' Programme in the Noctes Atticae — 158
  - 4.2.1 Humanus in Gellius — 173
- 4.3 Fronto: Are eruditio in bonas artes and φιλοστοργία Better than Humanitas? — 174
  - 4.3.1 Humanus in Fronto (and Lucius Verus) — 180
- 4.4 Conclusion — 181

|          |                                                                                                                                   |
|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 5 | Humanitas in School: [Quintilian's] Declamationes Minores and Maiores — 182                           |
| 5.1      | The Declamationes Minores — 183                                                                                            |
| 5.2      | The Declamationes Maiores — 192                                                                                            |
| 5.3      | Humanus and Its Cognates — 200                                                                                             |
| 5.4      | Conclusion — 203                                                                                                                  |
| 6 | The Silent Third Century and Its Exception: Eumenius' Oratio pro instaurendis scholis — 205                         |
| 7 | The Age of Constantine and Another Exception: Firmicus Maternus' Civilization Without παιδεία in the Mathesis — 215 |
| 7.1      | Firmicus Maternus' Mathesis — 216                                                                                          |
| 7.2      | Humanus in Firmicus' Mathesis — 223                                                                                 |
| 8 | Humanitas in the Theodosian Age: The Reproposition of the Trajanic Pattern? — 224                                   |
| 8.1      | Absent and Feigned Humanitas : Ammianus' Perspective on the Decline of the Empire — 227                                    |
| 8.1.1    | Humanitas in the Res Gestae — 229                                                                                   |
| 8.1.2    | Humanus in the Res Gestae — 256                                                                                     |
| 8.1.3    | Conclusion — 259                                                                                                                  |
| 8.2      | Humanitas in the Minor Roman Historians of the Fourth Century — 260                                                        |
| 8.2.1    | The Breviaries: Eutropius, Aurelius Victor and the Epitome de Caesaribus — 261                                             |
| 8.2.2    | The Historia Augusta — 263                                                                                                 |
| 8.3      | Humanitas Back Again: Ausonius' Gratiarum actio — 268                                                               |
| 8.4      | Defending Roman Nobility: Humanitas and Networking in the Work of Symmachus — 273                                          |
| 8.4.1    | Symmachus' Humanitas — 275                                                                                                 |
| 8.4.2    | Humanus in Symmachus — 314                                                                                                 |
| 8.4.3    | Conclusion — 314                                                                                                                  |
| 8.5      | Humanitas in the Theodosian Age: Final Remarks — 315                                                                       |
| 9 | Back (or Forward?) to the Ontological Origins of Humanitas: The Asclepius — 317                              |
| 9.1      | Humanitas in the Asclepius — 317                                                                                    |
| 9.2      | Humanus in the Asclepius — 329                                                                                      |
| 9.3      | Conclusion — 329                                                                                                                  |

10 Pagan Humanitas in the Imperial Age: Concluding Remarks — 330

Appendices

Abbreviations — 337

Bibliography — 339

Index Locorum — 361

Index Rerum — 373

Index Nominum — 377