

Contents

Vorwort zur neuen Reihe Studies in Early Modern Christianity in Central Europe — V

Foreword to the new series Studies in Early Modern Christianity in Central Europe — VII

Angela Ilić, Zsombor Tóth, Ulrich Andreas Wien

Introduction — 1

I Historical contexts and methodological considerations

Zsombor Tóth

Looking beyond the paradigm: The Hungarian reception of Huguenot authors in the context of the long Reformation in Central and Eastern Europe — 13

Zoltán Csepregi

Eine Hagiographie ohne Scheiterhaufen? Der gewundene Weg des evangelischen Martyrologiums im Ungarn des 16–18. Jahrhunderts — 33

Sándor Papp

Zülfikar Efendi, the chief interpreter of the imperial Divan of Hungarian origin and his collection of letters (Înşâ) — 53

II Intra- and interdenominational interaction and developments in Upper Hungary

Monika Bizoňová

The Reformation on the borders of the Kingdom of Hungary and Poland — 79

Ingrid Papp

The Interaction of cultures in the Kingdom of Hungary in the seventeenth century — 101

Annamária Kónyová

On the periphery of the Reformation: The Slovak and Ruthenian Reformed in Upper Hungary in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries. On the historical stereotype of Calvinism as the “Hungarian faith” — 113

Peter Kónya

Helvetische Konfession, Reaktion auf eine unerwünschte Reformationsrichtung in den königlichen Freistädten. Zur Formierung der interkonfessionellen Grenze in Oberungarn im 16. Jahrhundert — 133

III Impact on political power on diversity and liminality in Protestantism in Central Europe

Karl W. Schwarz

„der religion halben maß und ordnung ...“ Kirchenordnung im 16. Jahrhundert – bei Primus Truber und Johannes Mathesius — 155

Edit Szegedi

Konfessionelle Abgrenzung und konfessionelle Grenzüberschreitung als politisches Machtinstrument in Siebenbürgen im 17. Jahrhundert — 181

Réka Újlaki-Nagy

Beyond the Reformation. Early Transylvanian Sabbatarians and the Reformation — 197

Júlia Demeter

Forbidden, tolerated, encouraged? Calvinist school theatre in Hungary — 223

IV Beyond the Paradigm and across borders: The Reformation, interreligious entanglements and memory cultures

Csilla Gábor

Mirrors for princes as legends in the hagiographical compendium of András Illyés: Composition and international context — 243

Boro Bronza

Relations between the Protestants and the Serbian Orthodox Church in Hungary in the first half of the 18th century — 267

Zdenko Širka

Religion and nation in Modus Conversandi: A case study of Bohemian and Serbian traditions — 283

Angela Ilić

Remembering the Reformation as shared heritage? A survey of select memory cultures and historiographies in Central and Southeastern Europe — 313

Author Biographies — 333

Index of Persons — 337

Index of Places — 343

