Table of Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Theoretical Background	5
	2.0. Introduction	5
	2.1. The Phrase Structure Rules	8
	2.2. The Semantic Representation of Simple Sentences	14
	2.3. An Incongruence in the System of Locational Modes	24
	2.4. Strict Subcategorization and the Representation of Prepositions	29
	Footnotes to Chapter 2	37
3	A Note on Aspect	39
	3.0. Introduction	39
	3.1. The Modal Structure	40
	3.1.1. Some Arguments for an AUX-Component in the Desciption of Swedish	43
	3.1.2. The Auxiliary ha 'have'	48
	3.2. The Representation of Time	52
	3.3. The Swedish Perfect	59
	3.4. Summary	63
	Footnotes to Chapter 3	64
4	The System of Aktionsarten	67
	4.0. Introduction	67
	4.1. The Basic Distinction Change - No Change	68
	4.2. The Description of Sentences Referring to Changes	70
	4.2.1. The Concept of Limitation: Bounded and Un-
	bounded Processes	73
	4.2.2. The Concept of Duration: Punctual Events vs.
	Bounded Processes	93
	4.3. GO-functions marked +DIVID, -GRAD	104
	4.4. The Description of Sentences Referring to States	108
	4.5. Summary	114
	Footnotes to Chapter 4	118
5	Iterativity, Prepositional Objects, and Phrasal Verbs	123
	5.1. Sentences Referring to Multiple Events or States	123

X Table of contents

5.2.	The Choice between Direct Object and Prepositional
	Object as a Formal Way to Indicate Bounded Processes and Unbounded Processes	131
5.3.	Phrasal Verbs	140
	5.3.1. Two Senses of the Adverb upp	141
	5.3.2. Phrasal Verbs with upp	150
	5.3.3. Excurse	156
Foot	tnotes to Chapter 5	159
6 Summa	ry and Conclusions	161
References	s	165