

Authors

Mathias Albert is a Professor of Political Science at the Faculty of Sociology of Bielefeld University and a Principal Investigator at the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. His research interests are the history and sociology of world politics, youth studies, and the science and politics of the polar regions.

Maximilian Benz is a Professor of Linguistics and Literary Studies at Bielefeld University and the Deputy Spokesperson of the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. His expertise focuses on German literature of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern period.

Jacob Bohé is a Doctoral Researcher in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing” at Bielefeld University. His research areas include banking and insurance history as well as real estate markets.

Angelika Epple is the Rector of Bielefeld University and a Professor of General History with a Special Focus on the 19th and 20th Centuries. Until 2021 she was the Spokesperson of the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. Her research interests are the history of globalizations, global microhistory, the theory of history, historiography history, and the history of racism.

Walter Erhart is a Professor of Literary Studies and German Studies at Bielefeld University and a Principal Investigator in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. His research interests include German literature from the 18th century to the present, literary theory, history of science, travel literature, and gender studies.

Daniel Eschkötter is a Doctoral Researcher in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing” at Bielefeld University. His research interests lie in Media Theory, Media History, and Media Anthropology.

Charlotte Feidicker is a member of the school of librarianship at Göttingen State and University Library with a focus on History and Philosophy. Her research interests are methods and theories in historical research.

Antje Flüchter is a Professor of Early Modern History at Bielefeld University and acting Spokesperson of the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. She specializes in the religious and church history of the Early Modern period, with a primary focus on the interconnected history between Asia, especially India, and Europe.

Angela Gutierrez is a Doctoral Researcher in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing” at Bielefeld University. Her research interests include Global History, Global Microhistory, Colonial History, Latin American History/ Inter-American Studies, and the study of racism.

Kirsten Kramer is a Professor of Comparative Literature and Romance Studies at Bielefeld University. She is currently a Principal Investigator in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. Her research areas include literature and globalization, (world) travel literature, and ethnography.

Frederic Kunkel is a Doctoral Researcher in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing” at Bielefeld University. Currently involved in Project TP Fo4: “Global investieren, lokal vergleichen? Nationalisierung und Internationalisierung von Standards der Immobilienbewertung seit den 1970er Jahren.”

Thomas Müller is a Postdoctoral Researcher at the Faculty of Sociology at Bielefeld University and Principal Investigator in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. His research interests include the history of great power politics, the quantification of world politics, and EU foreign policy.

Angus Nicholls is a Professor of Comparative Literature and German at the Queen Mary University of London, where he is also the Director of Research for Comparative Literature and Modern Languages at Queen Mary. His research interests encompass literary studies, philosophy, and other humanities disciplines.

Laura Maria Niewöhner is a Doctoral Researcher in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing” at Bielefeld University. Her main interests include digital methods in historical research, contemporary history, cultural history of the post-war period, National Socialism, and the Holocaust.

Silke Schwandt is a Professor of Digital History at Bielefeld University and Principal Investigator in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing”. She specializes in methods and theories of digital historical research.

Malte Wittmaack is a Doctoral Researcher in the Collaborative Research Center 1288 “Practices of Comparing” at Bielefeld University. His research focuses on cultural contacts between Europe and the Ottoman Empire, interwoven histories, theories in historical studies, historical ontologies, and the cultural history of death from the 16th to the 19th century.

