Contents

Acknowledgements 7

1. Cinema's Foundational Frissons 9
The Arrival of the Digital Image at the Station 9
A Futurist Cinema of Attractions 13
What is Post about Post-Cinema? 21
But is it Art? 26
From Cine-thinking to Digi-thinking 30
Technology and Reality 34

2. The Affective Synthesis of Reality by Digital Images 41
A Great Evolution 42
A Question of Cause and Responsibility 44
Cinema and Affection 48
Passive Synthesis and the Spiritual Automaton 51
Do We Need a New 'Digital' Image Type – A 'Cinema 3'? 58
The Digital Revealing of Reality 60
Interstellar's Ontological Revealing 64
The Digital Pharmakon 67
Plasticity and Politics 72

3. 'A Digital Frontier to Reshape the Human Condition': Virtual Border Spaces and Affective Embodiment in Tron and Enter the Void 79
Overcoming Spatial Realism 83
Digital Emergence 85
Tron: Legacy 90
Enter the Void 94
Troubling the Threshold 97
The Digital Border Zone and Cinematic Ethics 101
Signs of Art at the Limits of Humanity 105
Conclusion 109

4. Dynamic Digital Spaces, Bodies, and Forces 113
'Moving' Pictures: Scientific vs. Aesthetic Truths 118
Formal Dynamics of the Digital Image 123
Movement, Space, and Kinaesthesis 131
The Body in Movement: Digital Dance 136
The Kinetic Dynamism of the Epic Digital Battle Scene 143
The Digital Neo-Baroque 148
Rethinking Cinema through Digital 3D 151
Conclusion 154

5. Reality Sutures, Simulation, and Digital Realism 159
The Malleable Mediated Mind 163
Rethinking Suture 167
Resemblance and the Mimetic Faculty 172
Metaphor and Embodied Simulation 174
Kinetic Synaesthesia and the Photographic Image 177
Virtuality, Plasticity, and Play 184
AVATAR and Digital Naturalism 188
SOURCE CODE and the Quantum Mind 193

6. A Digital Nihilism: Ethical Reflections 199
Autonomous Art and the Disappearance of Utopia 202
'A Business, a Pornography, a Hitlerism' 205
The Everyday Art Object of Industrial Design 208
Bernard Stiegler's Ethical Prognosis 211
'A Chaotic Scribble' 214
The Active Subject in Digitality 219
Digital Nihilism and Ontological Plasticity 221
Conclusion 223

Bibliography 227

Index 241