

Table of Contents

Prologue	7
Conflict, Negotiation, Appropriation, and Diversity: The Challenge of European Game Studies
Torill Elvira Mortensen
Introduction	15
Euro Ludens: On the Origins, Playing Region, and Imaginaries of the European Videogame
Óliver Pérez-Latorre & Víctor Navarro-Remesal
Part I National Stories
1. National Games: Spanish Games of the 1980s	39
Clara Fernández-Vara
2. From Le Vampire Fou to Billy la Banlieue : Genre, Influences and Social Commentary in 1980s French Videogames	59
Alexis Blanchet
3. Finnish Fuck Games: A Lost Historical Footnote	75
Susanna Paasonen & Veli-Matti Karhulahti
4. Adopting an Orphaned Platform: The Second Life of the Sharp MZ-800 in Czechoslovakia	91
Jaroslav Švelch
5. Cuthbert Goes Cloning: Ports, Platforms, and the Dragon 32 Microcomputer	111
James Newman
Part II Transnational Approaches
6. Masterpiece! Auteurism and European Videogames	131
Mercè Oliva

7. Playing European Comic Books: The Videogame Adaptations of Astérix and Tintin , 1993–1997 Manuel Garin	151
8. Existential Ludology and Peter Wessel Zapffe Stefano Gualeni & Daniel Vella	175
9. Europe Simulates Europe: How European Analogue Games Frame their Own Identity Antonio José Planells de la Maza	193
10. Naturalist Tendency in European Narrative Games Nelson Zagalo	209
Conclusions (for now) European Videogames, Europeanness in Videogames Víctor Navarro-Remesal & Óliver Pérez-Latorre	227
Index	233