

Table of Contents

List of Figures and Tables	7
Acknowledgments	9
List of Abbreviations	11
Introduction: Starting Out . ‘Europes’, Hippogriffs, and Mathematics	13
Europe: What’s in a Name?	18
Of Space-Time, Borders, and Mathematics	24
A Roadmap for this Book	32
Part I An Introduction to the Imago Mundi tradition
1. Understanding the World . An Overview of the Imago mundi	37
Medieval ‘Encyclopedias’	37
About the Author and Concerning Context	41
The Contents of the Imago Mundi	45
2. Translating Knowledge . An Introduction to the Imago Mundi
Family	53
Vernacular Translations of Imago mundi	62
Adaptations of Imago mundi I and Insertion of Translated Extracts in Encyclopedic Contexts	67
Adaptations and Translated Extracts Drawn into Other Genres	74
Adaptation into Latin	77
Part II Modes of Reading Geography
3. Time . Authority and Archaism	83
Authority in Fragments	85
The Timelessness of Archaism	87
Overlapping Maps: The Cases of paludes Meotides , Spain, and Rome	94

4. Space. Geographical Regions as Fuzzy Sets	105
Divide or Describe? Dirimere, deviser	106
Regions as Fuzzy Sets	109
Overlap between Fuzzy Sets in the Image du monde	111
The Mediterranean as Fuzzy Set	121
5. Movement. The Hodoeporical Descriptive Technique	129
Reader, Listener, or Viewer?	130
Going through the Text	135
Significant Itinerary Variations in the Latin Text	144
Local Interest	151
Conclusion: Looking Back and Looking Ahead	155
Looking Back	158
Looking Ahead	166
 Appendices	173
Appendix 1: List of Imago Mundi chapters	173
Appendix 2: Texts of the Imago Mundi Tradition	176
 Bibliography	177
Manuscripts	177
Primary Sources	177
Secondary Sources	180
Electronic Resources	201
 Index	203