

Illustrations

Figure 1.1	Silveira Sampaio. Uma Aventura aos 40 (1947).	19
Figure 1.2	Carlos Manga. O Homem do Sputnik (1959).	24
Figure 4.1	Roberto Pires. Abrigo Nuclear (1981).	72
Figure 4.2	Roberto Pires. Abrigo Nuclear (1981).	73
Figure 5.1	Arturo Uranga. Sketch for Francisco de Paula's Areias Escaldantes (1985).	105
Figure 5.2	Francisco de Paula. Areias Escaldantes (1985).	107
Figure 7.1	Adirley Queirós. Branco Sai, Preto Fica (2014).	151
Figure 7.2	Gabriel Mascaro. Divino Amor (2019).	164
Figure 7.3	Juliano Dornelles and Kléber Mendonça Filho. Bacurau (2019).	179
Figure 7.4	Thiago Foresti. Algoritmo (2020).	181
Figure 8.1	Kléber Mendonça Filho. Recife Frio (2009).	190
Figure 8.2	Tiago Esmeraldo. À Margem do Universo (2017).	216
Figure 8.3	Henrique Arruda. Os Últimos Românticos do Mundo (2020).	227
Figure 8.4	Joel Caetano. Missão Berço Esplêndido (2021).	229
Figure 9.1	The development of science brings problems to society (%).	261

Figure 9.2	Do you believe there is science and technology in the country?	262
Figure 9.3	In your opinion, to what extent do you feel that the state finances scientific research?	263
Figure 9.4	Why is there no more development in science and technology?	264
Figure 9.5	What do you think of the results that scientists obtain?	264
Figure 9.6	Brazil: scientific articles published in international journals indexed by the Institute for Scientific Information (ISI), 1981–2004.	265