

Acknowledgments

I cannot express enough thanks to Prof. Leslie Marsh and Dr. Rebecca Colesworthy for inviting me to submit the manuscript of this book to SUNY Press. Many thanks for your faith in this project and all of your patience and kind support.

This project could not have been accomplished without the support of Fapesp (Fundação de Amparo à Pesquisa do Estado de São Paulo) and the Capes-Fulbright Visiting Fellowship and Award 2019/2020. Both grants made possible a period of thorough research and exchange with students and colleagues at the University of Florida from October 2019 through February 2021. The completion of this book also benefited from a research scholarship granted by CNPq (Conselho Nacional de Desenvolvimento Científico e Tecnológico, bolsa PQ).

My deepest gratitude to Prof. Mary Elizabeth “Libby” Ginway, whose work has always been fundamental to my research. Prof. Ginway and her husband, Prof. David Pharies, were extremely kind, generous, and patient during my stay in Gainesville. I am very fond of our friendship. Thanks, Libby and David, for all your help.

I must also thank my friend Dr. Roberto de Sousa Causo, Brazilian SF scholar, writer, critic, and editor, for generously sharing his vast knowledge on Brazilian science fiction, always with invaluable pieces of advice regarding resources and the history of the genre. My deepest gratitude also to my dear fellow academics and friends Dr. Mariano Paz and Dr. Miguel Ángel Fernández Delgado for our constant, fruitful, and long-lasting collaboration. All my thanks to André Carneiro (in memoriam), Brazilian writer, poet, one of the great masters of Brazilian science fiction literature and author of the pioneering work Introdução ao Estudo da “Science Fiction” (1967). This book tries to follow in your footsteps.

Special thanks to Augusto Cesar Areal for introducing me to the universe of Fritz Lang's Metropolis many years ago, during my MA studies. Thank you, Marcos Bertoni, visual artist, Super-8 filmmaker, dear friend, and longtime partner in cinematic adventures and source of inspiration!

Many thanks to all my students and fellow academics who attended or took part in any of my graduate courses on science fiction studies at the Federal University of Juiz de Fora (Universidade Federal de Juiz de Fora) from January 2009 through March 2014, and at the State University of Campinas (Universidade Estadual de Campinas) from April 2014 up until present times. In particular, many thanks to all the graduate students and postdoc researchers who took part in my science fiction courses in the second semester of 2021: Dr. Edson Costa, Juliane Cristina Helanski, Hellen da Fonseca, Anelise de Brito Ferrão, Jeynne do Amaral Carrillo, Victor Guimarães Loturco, Leonardo José Porto Passos, Matheus Maltempi, Ester Marçal Fé, and Monica Regina Miranda. These individuals read several chapters of the original manuscript throughout our journey into the history of Brazilian SF cinema and engaged in extremely valuable discussions that helped improve this work. Also, many thanks to Prof. Suely Kofes, Prof. Maria Dora Mourão, Prof. Francisco Foot Hardman, Prof. Antonio Carlos Amâncio, and Prof. Luiz Antônio Mousinho for their insightful comments on the original manuscript. Our conversations were fundamental to the betterment of this book project and further thoughts on this chimeric object: the Brazilian SF cinema.

Many thanks to my dear friends in the US: Keith and Sharon Ponitz, Cody Case (you rock—and samba!), and all my dear Fulbrighter friends. Thank you, Mat Guzzo, for the excellent companionship in the US, “movin’ right along in search of good times and good news, with good friends you can’t lose, this could become a habit!” I must also thank Rodolfo Marini Teixeira for all his kind support at Unicamp while doing my research at the University of Florida.

My gratitude to artists Eryk Souza, João Queiroz, and Vitor Wiedegrün for sharing their unique SF illustrations. Many thanks to the Brazilian filmmakers Paulo Bastos Martins, Adirley Queirós, Edgar Franco, Francisco de Paula, Gabriel Mascaro, Grace Passô, Henrique Arruda, Joel Caetano, Kléber Mendonça Filho, Marco Antônio Pereira, Maurílio Martins, Petrus Pires, Susan Kalik, Thiago Foresti, and Tiago Esmeraldo. Thanks for sharing your films and stills, without which this work would have never been possible. Also, thanks to my friends Lea Monteiro and Eduardo Santana, curators of the film festivals Antropokaos and Cinefantasy, respectively.

Special thanks to Dr. Valquíria Magrini and Dr. Nilton Domingos Jr. (you kept me steadfast), Rupert Lyons, Paul Dixon, Felipe de Souza Mello, Bruna Ricardi, her parents and family. Natalie Diesel, thank you so much for your help with revisions! My gratitude to my dear friends Bráulio Tavares and Luiz Brás, who kindly shared their poems and edited collections with me. I'm also grateful for the kind support from Prof. Pedro Maciel Guimarães and the Graduate Program in Multimeios at the University of Campinas (Unicamp). Thanks to Prof. Diego Vicentim from the Social Sciences Graduate Program at Unicamp for this institutional support as well. Special thanks to my “academic” parents: Prof. Lúcia Nagib and Prof. José Mário Ortiz Ramos (in memoriam). There is much from you here. Thanks to Nuno César Abreu (in memoriam) for the joyful conversations and his lessons on Nelson Pereira dos Santos. Also thanks to Paulo Martins for his generosity and our fruitful conversations when I was a PhD student. My loving gratitude to my dear friends and academic fellows Fernando Almeida Diniz and Ewa Mazierska—two sources of inspiration.

Many thanks to Cinemateca Brasileira in São Paulo and Cinemateca do Museu de Arte Moderna in Rio de Janeiro, namely Hernani Heffner, Fábio Vellozo, José Quental, Renato Noviello, Guilherme Albani, and Elisa Ximenes. Thanks to Diane Ganeles, Michael Sandlin, Aimee Harrison, Julia Cosacchi, and all the SUNY Press team that guided my steps while making this book real. Thanks to my friends and colleagues who put me in contact with film directors: Dr. Natália Christofolletti Barrenha, Prof. Ângela Phrysthon, Dr. Jamer Guterres de Mello, Prof. Wilson Antônio Lazaretti, and Prof. Luciana Corrêa de Araújo. Thank you, Prof. Chantal Medaets and Prof. Wilmar D'Angelis, for the help with native Brazilian languages—especially the “soul-word” (nheẽ).

Last but not least, my heartfelt thanks to my mother, Dolores, and my loving son, Francisco. This book is for you.
