

TABLE OF CONTENTS

| | |
|---|----|
| Editorial | 3 |
| Articles | |
| Paul De Hert & Stefan Somers | |
| Principles of National Constitutionalism limiting Individual Claims in Human Rights Law. | |
| Constitutionalism and the Balance between National and International Legal Reform | 4 |
| Gedion T Hessebon | |
| Some Major Themes in the Study of Constitutionalism and Democracy in Africa | 28 |
| Qerim Qerimi & Vigan Qorrolli | |
| A Constitutional Tradition in the Making: | |
| The Presidents' Cases and the Role of Kosovo's Constitutional Court in the Process of Democratic Consolidation | 49 |
| Notes | |
| Markus Vašek | |
| Constitutional Comparison and Legislation | |
| 2nd conference of the Vienna Journal on International Constitutional Law | 68 |
| Developments Austria | |
| Valerie Trofaier-Leskovar | |
| Focus: The Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union in the Austrian Constitutional Court's case law | 71 |
| Johannes Dopsch | |
| EU-Law Infringements in Austria: Constitutional Review Restricted | |
| Austrian Constitutional Court, Judgment of 28 June 1997, B 877/96 (VfSlg 14.886/1997) | 73 |
| Peter Thalmann | |
| Failure to refer a preliminary question to the ECJ and the right to a lawful Judge | |
| Austrian Constitutional Court, Judgment of 30 September 2003, B 614/01 and B 1642/02 (VfSlg 16.988/2003) | 79 |
| Gisela Kristoferitsch | |
| The Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union to be treated like Constitutional Law | |
| Austrian Constitutional Court, Judgment of 14 March 2012, U 466/11 et al | 88 |
| Heinz Verdino | |
| The Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union as review standard in proceedings before the Constitutional Court | |
| 93 | |
| Christoph Bezemek | |
| Wording and Determinateness – Indeterminately Worded | |
| A few Remarks on Questions to be Asked again | 95 |
| Harald Eberhard | |
| Rights of the Charter of Fundamental Rights as constitutionally guaranteed rights – | |
| VfSlg 14.886/1997 revisited? | 99 |

Gisela Kristoferitsch

Can the constitutionality of omitting a public hearing in the Austrian Constitutional Court's CFREU decision legitimately be based on the jurisdiction on Art 6 ECHR? 102

Konrad Lachmayer

The Austrian approach towards European Human Rights 105

Claudia Fuchs

An Austrian enthusiasm towards European human rights protection
Some short remarks on the Constitutional Court's EU Charter Judgment 108

Developments CEE*Krisztina Nagy & Gábor Polyák*

Hungarian Constitutional Court:
New Media Regulation partly under Constitutional Scruling
19 December 2011, Ruling No 165/2011 (XII 20) AB 110

Anita Blagojević

Croatian Constitutional Court: The electoral procedure for voters/members of national minorities for representatives to the Croatian Parliament
Judgment of 29 July 2011, U-I-3597/2010 et al 116

Book Reviews

119

Aim and Scope

The Vienna Journal on International Constitutional Law is dedicated to the advancement of legal knowledge in the field of International Constitutional Law. By linking various perspectives the Journal endorses an approach towards a coherent understanding of International Constitutional Law and preparing the ground for novel answers to the challenges of a changing global legal framework. Connecting different systems of Constitutional Law on a national and international level allows to explore the tension and the congruence, both within and between constitutional networks, and to further discuss and develop appropriate solutions.

The Journal aims to provide a forum for critical discussion on topics of International Constitutional Law focusing on recent developments in National Constitutional Orders and in Public International Law as well as on questions in the field of Legal Theory. Advised by a body of international referees the Journal features high-standard contributions by scholars and legal professionals from around the globe. Furthermore, the Journal monitors constitutional developments in CEE, particularly by assessing select case law of National High Courts.

The Vienna Journal on International Constitutional Law addresses the global scientific community, scholars and researchers in various disciplines working in the field of International Constitutional Law. Moreover, the Journal provides information on comparative constitutional developments, relevant to practitioners as well as academics.