Contents

Preface xi

1. Introduction 1

2. Buy Behavior and the Operant Conditioning Paradigm 8

Reflex Behavior and Operant Behavior 8
Buy Behavior as Operant Behavior 12
The Nature and Kinds of Reinforcers 14

3. Buy Behavior: A Conflict Between Approach and Escape 22

Buy Behavior as the Outcome Between Two Incompatible Behaviors 22
Determinants of Approach Behavior 23
Determinants of Escape Behavior 33

4. A Preliminary Model of Buy Behavior 40

The Evidence from Animal Experiments on Conflict 40

Application of Conflict Experiments to Consumer Buy Responses 44
Some Hypothetical Experiments in Buy Behavior 47

5. Reinforcer-Effectiveness Limits 60
Reinforcer-effectiveness Limits for Goods Considered Separately 61
Reinforcer-effectiveness Limits for Two or More Commodities Considered Jointly 73

6. Equilibrium Outcome of Buy Behavior 82
The Analysis by Successive Approximations 82
When the Response Strength Curves Are (Initially) Not Consistent with Final Equilibrium 93
The Composite Diagram: An Alternative Presentation of Buy Behavior Equilibrium 101
Long-run Equilibrium Buy Outcome: Stability vs. Durability 108

7. Buy Behavior After a Change in Income or Prices 114
Effects of a Change in Income 115
Effects of a Change in Relative Prices When REL Is Ignored 120
Effects of a Change in Relative Prices under the Dual Constraints 124
Buy Behavior and the Law of Demand 132
Response Strength of Approach and Escape Behaviors 137
A Postscript on Positively Sloped Net AB Curves 139

8. An Operant Analysis of Financial Portfolio Composition 143
Determinants of Approach Behavior for Investors 144
Determinants of Escape Behavior for Investors 155
Allocation of Financial Portfolios: The Outcome of Approach vs. Escape Behavior 156
Effects of a Change in Wealth or Reinforcement Contingency 163
A Final Comment on Financial Portfolios 166

9. Epilogue: An Overview of the Conflict Model of Buy Behavior 170

Recapitulation of Major Structural Features 170
Some Special Features of the Model 182
A Look Ahead 190

References 193

Index 199