

Contents

Abbreviations	xi
I. Introduction	I
II. Gratian and Church Politics	17
Reforming the Reform Papacy	27
The Policy Positions of the Two Parties	39
Gratian and the Reform Party	47
III. The Church as a Juridical Community	65
The Foundation of the Church	68
Membership in the Church According to Gratian's Con- temporaries	76
Membership in the Church According to Gratian	87
IV. Human Authority and the Hierarchy of Law	96
Gratian's Argument in the Tractatus de Legibus	99
V. Human Authority and the Divine Law	112
The Theory of Obedience	114
The Sacrament of Penitence	124
VI. Human Authority and Its Own Law: The Theory of Legislative Power	133
The Tractatus de Legibus	135
Causa 25	141
The Historical Importance of the Theory of Legislative Power	148
VII. Sacerdotal Power and the Hierarchy of the Church	154
The Problem of Sacerdotal Power	155

CONTENTS

	Sacerdotal Power According to the Schools of Laon, Saint Victor, and Peter Abelard	159
	Sacerdotal Power According to Gratian	164
	The Ordo Episcopalis and the Position of the Pope . . .	178
VIII.	The Source of Legitimate Authority in the Church . . .	187
	The Election: Choice of God or the Community? . . .	189
	The Ordination: The Priest's Reception of Power and Authority	195
	The Theory of the Electorate: Its Historical and Constitutional Importance	199
IX.	The Division of Governmental Responsibilities Between Regnum and Sacerdotium : The Ecclesiastical Community and Other Communities	211
	The Division of Judicial and Legislative Power . . .	215
	The Use of Force by the Church	223
X.	Conclusions	247
	The Decretum in the Twelfth Century	247
	The Place of the Decretum in Medieval Political Theory	250
	Appendix I: The Date of the Decretum	255
	Appendix II: Saint Bernard and the Law	260
	Bibliography	267
	Index	293