

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Preface	xi
Map	xvii
Introduction: John's World	1
Language and Culture	1
Culture and Religion: Early Groups and Features	4
Culture and Religion: Early Ascetic Forms	8
Asceticism and Society	13
Religion and History	21
I "These Holy Images": John of Ephesus and the
Lives of the Eastern Saints	28
John Himself	28
John's Writings	30
Genre: Characteristics and Choices	34
Hagiographic Style: Issues of Language and Content	37
Literary Style: Clue to the Cultural Setting	40
II "Let Your Light So Shine Before Men":
The Ascetic Vision	43
John of Ephesus: The Ascetic Model	43
Holy Careers: Variations on a Theme	46

	Monasticism: An Institution for the Individual	49
	The Message in the Model	54
III	Amida: The Measure of Madness	57
	Ascetic Roots	57
	The Sixth Century: The Setting	59
	Amida: The Devil Without and the Devil Within	65
	The Ascetic Response	68
IV	Purpose and Places	76
	Egypt: The Community Witness	76
	Constantinople: Individuals in Community	80
	Constantinople: The Community Witness	86
	Epilogue. Amida and Constantinople: Holy Presence	91
V	Spirituality and Accountability:
	Consequences of the Ascetic Vow	94
	Mission: Individual Responsibility and Collective Authority	94
	Ordination: Individual Responsibility and Collective Accountability	100
VI	Some Implications: The Case of Women	108
	Women, the Early Church, and the Syrian Orient	108
	John's Lives: Sixth-Century Patterns	117
	John's Holy Women: Women of Spirit	121
	John and Women: Implications of a Vision	130
VII	John of Ephesus: Asceticism and Society	134
	Contrasts in Hagiography	135
	Hagiography and History	145
	Abbreviations	147
	Notes	151
	Bibliography	199
	Index	219