

Contents

|                                                                                            |         |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| List of Illustrations                                                               | ix      |
| Acknowledgments                                                                     | xi      |
| Introduction: Perilous Body Gospels                                                 | 1       |
| A Note on Reading the Images                                                        | 19      |
| 1. GLUTTONS FOR REGIMEN: ANGLO-PROTESTANT CULTUREAND THE REORIENTATION OF APPETITE | 23  |
| The Diet of Angels: Fasting in Early Modern Anglo-AmericanProtestantism                |         |
| Gospels of Physick: Medicine, Methodism, and Mortification                                 |         |
| Rarefied Flesh: Sexual Regulation, Bodily Pleasure, and Perfection                         |         |
| Phrenology and Somatic Authenticity                                                        |         |
| 2. SCULPTORS OF OUR OWN EXTERIOR:NEW THOUGHT PHYSIQUES                             | 69  |
| “Nothing but a Dense Shadow”: The Body as Delusion?                                        |         |
| Corresponding Bodies                                                                       |         |
| Female Sexual Pleasure and Mystical Communion:Reproducing a Civilized Race             |         |
| Regimens Shaping Bodies to Come                                                            |         |
| 3. MINDING THE BODY: DIVERGENT PATHSOF NEW THOUGHT PERFECTIONISM                   | 110 |
| Living on Air: Gospels of Fasting, Conquest, and Purgation                                 |         |
| William Sheldon’s Metaphysical Somatotypes                                                 |         |
| God in a Body: Gastronomy and Black Power                                                  |         |

|                                                                                     |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 4. PRAY THE WEIGHT AWAY:SHAPING DEVOTIONAL FITNESS CULTURE                      | 160 |
| Shedd-ing Pounds: Scripture and Devotional Practicein Service to Weight Loss    |     |
| The Burgeoning Christian Diet Culture                                               |     |
| From Empathy to Authority: Shifting Models of Expertise                             |     |
| Religious Devotion to Thinness Outside Mainstream Protestantism                     |     |
| 5. "DON'T EAT THAT": DENIAL, INDULGENCE,AND EXCLUSION IN CHRISTIAN DIET CULTURE | 206 |
| Poisoned Bodies, Blemished Souls: Food as Taint and Transgression                   |     |
| Loved on a Smaller Scale: Women, Weight, and the DivineLover Above              |     |
| The Power of Perfection: Purified Bodies and Racialized Worlds                      |     |
| Epilogue: Bodies in Crisis?                                                  | 239 |
| Notes                                                                        | 251 |
| Primary Source Bibliography                                                  | 291 |
| Index                                                                        | 303 |